President Says Aid Cut Wrong, Will Harm U.S.

Eisenhower Defends Gen. Marshall and Lashes at Senate Dispute Over Senator McCarthy

Washington, Aug. 4 (AP)—President Eisenhower said today the foreign aid cut voted by the Senate is too deep and will hurt the United States badly. He also said it reflects some lack of comprehension as to what the people in the Kremlin are doing.

The President told a news conference that before the bill went to Congress the administration already had trimmed the program as much as it felt was justified.

Eisenhower asked Congress for nearly 3½ billion dollars for foreign aid. The Senate late yesterday voted to put the figure in an authorization bill at $2,610,000,000. The House had voted $3,368,000,000.

Defends General

The President also came up with a ringing defense of Gen. George C. Marshall when asked for comment on a statement by former Secretary of War Harry Woodring that Marshall would sell out his own grandmother for personal advantage.

Eisenhower said Marshall—who as army chief of staff was his superior during World War 2—typifies all that we look for in an American patriot.

The Woodring statement, in a letter to a friend, was made public earlier this week by Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.).

As to the controversy in the Senate over whether McCarthy should be censured, Eisenhower said in reply to a question that of course that controversy will have an affect on Republican Party unity. But he said he feels he should not try to evaluate the situation in advance of any decision by the Senate on what course to take.

The President added that anything which tends to divide the party concerns him and means he must take some steps with respect to the situation.

Other Issues

On other matters:

Communist China—Eisenhower reiterated with great amphasis that he is opposed to admitting Red China to the United Nations under present conditions. But the President went on to say he is always ready to wait and see whether the sinner reforms and comes into the fold. He would be off his rocker, he added, if he attempted to say what conditions would be five

Grotewohl Says John Has Asylum

E. German Radio Says Security Police Pick Up Large Number of Persons

Berlin, Aug. 4 (AP) — Communist Premier Otto Grotewohl told the East German Parliament today that West German Security Chief Otto John has been granted political asylum in the Soviet zone.

John disappeared into the East sector of Berlin on July 20. The West German government has taken the official position that he was kidnaped, probably while drugged, or lured into the Red zone.

The East German radio announced last night that Red State Security police had rounded up a "large number" of persons it said had been spying for the West German and American "Secret Services." That broadcast did not mention John by name, but as head of the Bonn government's Internal Security Service he knew the identities of hundreds of persons sending information from East Germany to the West.

The Soviets in previous broadcasts have claimed that John quit the West to work for German reunification.

Broadcasts Three Times

Since John disappeared, a man purporting to be him has broadcast three times from East Germany, saying he went to the East to work for German unity and because "too many Nazis" had returned to power in the West German government.

An official British source in Bonn today said British authorities cut John off from their intelligence secrets about 10 months ago. The action, the source said, was "due to an increasing conviction on our part that John was unreliable."

He declined to say whether the British informed West German leaders of their suspicions.

Could Not Be Learned

Whether American intelligence leaders shared the reported British suspicions of John could not be learned. During a visit to Washington in 1950, the German conferred with Allen Dulles, director of Central Intelligence Agency, and with other intelligence officials there.

Other allied officials in Bonn disclosed today that John was involved in a bitter controversy with American and British intelligence officials in Germany before he disappeared.

John considered Nazi-like elements as the greatest danger of

Council Action Forecasts Cash for Traffic Control

Four-Engine Air France Constellation Crashes

This is the wreckage of the Air France Super Constellation which crashed at Preston, Conn., August 3. The big plane, with 29 passengers and eight crewmen aboard was en route from Paris to Mexico City via New York. There were some injuries but no deaths from the crash. (AP Wirephoto).

Aldermen Vote Fund For Beach

Police Radio System Improvement Also Sanctioned—'Mikes' Are Tested

Future action to provide sufficient funds to materialize necessary traffic control measures was indicated by the Common Council last night.

The aldermen also approved a $9,500 fund to cover improvements at the Kingston Point beach, heard of planned action to control use of air conditioning units and sanctioned improvement of the local police radio system.

Three petitions asked for new sewer projects and the improvement of Henry street and resolutions proposed improving visibility on the railroad bridge at Hasbrouck and Delaware avenues, the contracting with a private concern for refuse collecting, and action against buses that speed over Henry street.

Meets With Approval

A test of an amplifying system in the council chamber appeared to meet with general approval of the councilmen although some were "mike" shy. The test to overcome hampering acoustics was provided by Clark's Radio and Sound Service.

Indication that the aldermen would solidly back a proposal for more money in the city budget to provide for needed traffic control measures followed a complaint by Alderman Charles Cole, 13th ward, that he was unable to get a light or flash signal for the Abeel and Dunn street intersection.

Second Ward Alderman Benjamin A. Storms, chairman of the traffic control committee, explained that many requests are made at various meetings for traffic control measures, but "there is little money in the budget for traffic control."

Needed at Intersection

Many intersections are in need of control units as the committee well knows, he said, but unless funds are available the committee cannot act. He proposed that "we should get more money in the budget next year and from there on."

Cole thanked Storms for the committee's considerations in the past and said he felt that "traffic signals were of prime importance," and something should be done about them.

Alderman - at - Large Joseph Kelly noted that traffic problems "are of major importance throughout the nation," and he recalled attending a recent session for the training of police officials by the FBI at Bear Mountain where traffic problems as well as crime prevention was dealth with, and he said the FBI now has a special division for instruction in traffic control.

Storms' suggestion, said Kelly, to support the traffic committee in a move to obtain more funds, "was a good one," and he was hopeful of its bringing results.

Says Sum Reasonable

Mayor Frederick H. Stang, in a letter to the council asking for a budget note of $9,500 to cover improvements at the Kingston Point beach, noted "This amount, you will agree, is reasonable, when you consider that some of our neighboring communities have spent upwards of $150,000 to provide a pool which will accommodate a far lesser number than our beach."

In explaining his action in reconditioning the beach for the balance of this summer, the mayor explained that "Time was of the essence in making this available, and therefore your administration proceeded as rapidly as possible to make this a reality." He explained the nec-

Shotgun Rule Is Guatemala Status Of Castillo Armas

Stubborn Dissenters Quit at Aurora Base on Outskirts of Capital

Guatemala, Aug. 4 (AP)—President Carlos Castillo Armas and Guatemala's regular army still governed their nation in shaky shotgun political union today following surrender of holdout dissident troops at the Aurora base just outside the capital.

The defiant units, apparently hoping to force Castillo Armas out, had refused to honor the agreement Monday night pledging the army's full support to the governing Junta in exchange for the disbanding of the president's "Liberation Army" of irregulars.

Castillo Armas announced the Aurora units had surrendered last night after the President's honor guard blocked all roads to the base and threatened to attack. He said the base commander and his second in command has been imprisoned and the Junta had put Col. Ramon Gonzalez in command of the base.

Says 'Calm' Prevails

Castillo Armas insisted army commanders loyal to the Junta were in complete control of the country and "absolute calm" prevailed. But he made no move to countermand his order earlier yesterday halting dissolution of his irregular units in the key provincial cities of Zacapa and Chiquimula.

The 700 "Liberationists" in Guatemala City were disarmed Monday night after they had battled 12 hours with cadets of the National Military Academy and troops from the Aurora base. Twenty-five persons were killed and 70 were wounded.

The battle resulted from a drunken brawl between a group of cadets and a group of irregulars in a house of prostitution. The army units joined the cadets with tanks and mortars in an attack on the liberation encamp-

Sheppard Silent, Police Chief Says

'New Information' May Help Solve Case, Story Thinks

Cleveland, Aug. 4 (AP)—Police Chief Frank W. Story reported today Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard now has "clammed up completely," but because of new information he is more hopeful of solving the slaying of Sheppard's wife.

"He just doesn't want to help the investigation," Story said of the 30-year-old osteopath held on a first degree murder charge.

The chief said Dr. Sheppard "is too well coached and advised by his attorneys and the present interrogation seems to be a waste of time."

Story said he might decide to drop further questioning. Detectives have been quizzing the husband five days.

No Information Given

Just what the new information is, the chief refused to say. But he said because of it, he is "more hopeful now of a solution than we were a week ago."

The physician is accused of killing his 31year-old wife, Marilyn, in the bedroom of their suburban Bay Village home July 4.

Detectives said they were probing reports of "other women" in Dr. Sheppard's life, but the prisoner refused to discuss the matter.

Miss Susan Hayes, a 24-year-old hospital technician, admitted she was intimate with Dr. Sheppard.

Two men who "confessed" to the killing last night were described by police as simply drunken "crackpots."

$1,250,000 Contract Suit Is Filed by Airlines

By The Associated Press

American Airlines filed a $1,250,000 breach of contract suit yesterday against its striking pilots' union, but the union gave no sign of backing down.

The suit, filed in New York Federal Court, asked one million dollars for loss of revenue resulting from the four-day grounding of the company's fleet and a quarter of a million for the union's influence on striking pilots.

The action was brought against the AFL Airline Pilots Assn, Clarence Sayen, union president; J. J. O'Connell, chairman of its American Airlines Division and C. H. Daudt, New York chairman of the union.

"The filing of this suit will in no way hasten settlement of this dispute," Sayen remarked in Chicago.

Was First Action

The suit filing was the first action by either party since the national mediation board withdrew last week in its efforts to settle the dispute.

C. R. Smith, president of American, told a news conference in New York yesterday that the association "deliberately and wilfully" violated its contract by refusing to permit pilots to fly more than eight continuous hours on nonstop transcontinental flights.

He asserted the contract with the union "clearly permits" such flight.

The strike, he added, has seriously damaged the business and reputation of the company.

To this, Sayen said:

"American can relieve its self-imposed damages and get out from under its martyrdom of self-generated losses at any time by withdrawing their demand that the pilots forsake a flight limit of 23 years or be discharged."

Started July 21

The work stoppage started July 21 against American, the nation's largest domestic air carrier. American's 970 daily flights normally cover routes totalling 12,000 miles and handle about 20,000 passengers a day.

Strikes over the issue have been authorized against United and Trans World. Trans World, however, decided to interrupt westbound transcontinental flights at Chicago for crew changes and refueling—a move since praised by the union.

Meanwhile, the National Mediation Board continued sessions in Washington today with representatives of six major airlines and the AFL Machinists Union (IAM) in an effort to prevent further disruption of vital air transportation.

The union reported that 20,000 ground workers on Capital, Eastern, National, Northwest,

Tuesday's Rain Is Boon to Farmers' New Later Crops

.55 of Inch Falls Here in 12-Hour Period; Water Goes Deep Into Earth

Thirsty land drank deep of yesterday's half inch of rain in Kingston and Ulster county and the area's hapless farmers, who have struggled through a hot dry season, expressed delight.

It won't help the early crops but it's a boon for the new ones, they all agreed. It was a slow rain and it went deep.

A total of .55 of an inch fell in the city between 6 a. m. and 6 p. m., bringing the total for the year to 22.10 inches. Curiously enough, a spokesman for the city engineer's office says that's not much below normal for the period.

The New York City Board of Water Supply reported .51 of an inch at Brown's Station near the lower gate at Ashokan Reservoir and .59 of an inch at the Prattsville Station but the reservoirs were "not appreciably affected" due to the high "saturation rate of the foliage."

A spokesman said the reservoirs were "not low for this period." There is "nothing alarming" in the situation during the summer "draw-down period" when waters stored in winter months are consumed.

Helps Parched Earth

Ray A. Elmendorf, who operates a farm on Hurley avenue, was elated.

"It helped considerably," he said, explaining that the ground had been "parched" until yesterday's rainfall.

It was a "little late in coming," corn hadn't been coming up as it should, the top of the ears wilting badly. Now, however.

U.S. Demands China Pay For Americans in Plane

Peiping Also Called Upon to Declare Measures for Safety

Washington, Aug. 4 (AP)—The United States today demanded anew that Communist China pay compensation for six Americans killed and wounded in an attack on a British airliner by Chinese fighter planes.

In a new note to the Chinese Reds, the United States also renewed a previous demand for "appropriate punishment" of the persons responsible for the "criminal attack" on the airliner near Hainan Island July 23.

The Peiping regime also was called upon to "declare the measures that will be taken" to prevent further plane attacks.

The note, following up an earlier protest which the Reds coldly rejected, was delivered today to the Chinese Foreign Office by the British charge d'affaires and made public here by the State Department.

It flatly rejected the Chinese Red argument that the plane attack was none of the business of the United States since the plane involved was British. On this point the note said:

"Inasmuch as six United States citizens were passengers on this aircraft, three of whom were killed and three others injured as a result of this illegal attack, the Chinese Communist

Missing Boy, 4, Returns Suddenly

Atwood Youngster Looks Sheepish and Sleepy and Noncommittal

A five-year-old boy, missing almost five hours, showed up suddenly about 4 p. m. yesterday at his own search party.

He was little Howard Moore, one of six children who board with Mrs. Richard Barley of Atwood.

Neighbors, volunteer firemen and representatives of the Ulster county sheriff's office were pouring into the village to comb the woods, waters and rocky cliffs in the vicinity when the lad appeared on the scene looking a little sleepy and a bit sheepish. He had been found nearby by James Hasenflue of Lomontville.

Dozens of neighbors, three truckloads of volunteers from the Lomontville Fire Department, Sheriff Cluett Schantz, Undersheriff Clayton Vredenburg, County Investigator Arthur Brown and three deputies went home.

No Explanation

Little Howard was rather noncommittal about the whole thing, it was reported. No explanation was available from the lad but it seems quite likely, piecing the episode together, that he wandered off a short distance from his home and took a little nap.

That's what Mrs. Barley thinks.

Kicked Ball, Broke Lamp

About noon, it seems, Howard and some of his brothers were

CAB Praises Crew For Safe Landing; Passenger Critical

Co-Pilot Says No Idea Ground Would Be So Rough—12 Are Injured

Norwich, Conn., Aug. 4 (AP)—A Civil Aeronautics Board official has recorded "an excellent job" for the Air France crew who brought down an airliner to a fiery crash landing in a potato field—without death to any of the 37 persons abroad.

Joseph O. Fluet, chief regional saftey investigator for the CAB, talked with members of the crew last night.

He declined to say what might have caused the crash of the transAtlantic Constellation, but told newsmen:

"Under the circumstances, the crew did an excellent job in getting the plane down without fatalities."

Two other CAB investigators accompanied Fluet, and state officials also were on hand.

Six passengers and two crewmen were hospitalized after the plane, bucking rain and a low ceiling, plowed into the field and burst into flames yesterday at nearby Preston, Conn. One of the passengers was in critical condition today.

Gasoline Was Low

Co-pilot Jean Rousseau said last night that gasoline was running low, "and the forced landing was the only thing to do to avoid a major catastrophe."

"We just didn't realize the terrain below was as rough as it turned out to be," he added.

The four-engine airliner, en route from Paris to Mexico City, had a scheduled stop at Idlewild Airport in New York city. The pilot, Capt. Jean Caboche, 43, missed an aproach at Idlewild in bad weather and decided on an emergency landing at Preston, 130 miles away.

The Civil Aeronautics Administration's (CAA) regional office in New York said the plane could have landed at Idlewild. The CAA said it was raining hard there, but conditions were far above minimums for

As a service to its many interested readers, The Freeman will publish daily during the swimming season the schedule of high tides for the following day. It will appear under the weather forecast. There have been received at The Freeman many inquiries regarding the high tide schedule since the announcement of the reopening of Kingston Point beach. Thursday evening, the beach will be opened officially as a city-sponsored project.

Jet Crashes in Street

Firemen douse remaining flames near a smashed automobile in Wantagh, where an Air Force Thunderbolt fighter-bomber plunged into the street. The pilot of the plane died when his craft hit the ground in the center of a housing development area. Six persons were injured. (NEA Telephoto).

Pilot Aimed for Street, Lost Life Saving Others

Wantagh, Aug. 4 (AP)—An air force jet fighter streaked to earth and exploded yesterday in the middle of a residential street, killing the pilot.

Capt. William Weiland, 34, apparently spent the last seconds of his life in a successful effort to crash his plane in the street, sparing homes that lay ahead of him.

Even so, the explosion set fire to one house and destroyed it, damaged a score of other homes and injured five persons, one of them critically.

Eyewitnesses said Weiland at first appeared headed out to sea but he lost too much altitude to make it. They said he then seemed to aim deliberately for the street, avoiding a crash landing that would have plowed through several houses.

There was no indication what caused the plane to crash. Weiland had been in a four-plane training flight from Dover, Del., to Bangor, Me. The other three pilots, flying above a cloud bank at 32,000 feet, said they did not realize he had dropped from the formation until he failed to check in by radio.

The air force said Weiland lived at Milford, Del., with his wife and 8-year-old child. His hometown was Peru, Ill.

The jet plane crash rocked the entire neighborhood and sprayed shrapnel-like metal for half a mile in all directions. It left a 15-foot hole in the middle of Denver street and the neat

Shokan

Shokan, Aug. 3—Mrs. Selvig Berge and son, Pedar of Brooklyn spent the weekend with Mrs. Berge's daughter, Marie Saenger of the Acorn Hill neighborhood. Mrs. Saenger who lives at Grymes Hill, S. I., has built a summer home on a lot which she bought of Delia Lewis, town clerk of Olive.

Callers in the hub of the reservoir country Sunday included the following out of town people: Mr. and Mrs. John Kinsey of West Englewood, N. J., and Phoenicia; Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Bersin and Mrs. H. Gordon, Woodstock; Mrs. W. S. Cooper, Brooklyn; Mrs. William Evan, Jersey City and H. Solomon, New York.

Having a birthday Saturday, Aug. 7 is Mrs. Kenneth Davis of Krumville. The former Doris Elmendorf was brought up in Shokan and attended Kingston High School.

George Mahler of the Bloomfield avenue section of Verona, N. J., was a caller in Shokan Saturday.

An attraction at the Ashokan Methodist Church fair and supper Wednesday, Sept. 7 will be an exhibit featuring antiques and other interesting objects. Mrs. Martin Gulnac of Shokan, head of the publicity committee for the fair, will be assisted at a meeting of the WSCS in the church hall Wednesday, Aug. 4.

Mrs. Howard Richard, a summer resident, who has been at the Benedictine Hospital the past two weeks, is reported as convalescent.

The Freeman story about Lt. Howard W. Jones, Kingston Navy career man, is of interest to readers of the Ashokan area where the Jones family formerly made their home. The young man's mother, Mrs. B. W. Jones, was brought up in the Temple's Pond sector of Hurley where her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Whittle, were farmers for many years.

Recent callers at the corner old country store and museum included the following people from other county communities: Sonia Rice, Woodstock; Clark Lewis, Kerhonkson R.F.D.; Jane Ann Rowe, Kingston; Jane Trowbridge, Olive Bridge and Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Lockwood of Stone Ridge.

Consideration Is Given Taxpayers' Care of Children

(This is the third in a series of articles explaining how the new tax revision bill affects individuals).

By CHARLES F. BARRETT

Washington, Aug. 4 (AP)—An entirely new idea is being imbedded in tax laws: A special break for people who have to pay for care of their children while they work.

This concept goes into effect for the first time in the huge, 1,000-page tax revision bill just passed by Congress.

Experts figure it will cut taxes for about 2,100,000 persons by a total of 130 million dollars a year.

The new bill permits many taxpayers to deduct from their income, before figuring their tax, actual expenses of up to $600 a year for care of children under 12, while they were at work.

And a little-noted provision permits the same deduction not only for children, but also for any dependent who is mentally or physically incapable of caring for himself.

Cut of $120

That means an actual tax cut of $120 for those in the lowest, 20 per cent tax bracket, a bigger savings in higher brackets.

This is how you con qualify under the child care provision:

If you file your return as a single head of a household — a widow, widower, divorced or separated person—you can claim $600 deduction regardless of your income if you meet the other conditions.

And if you are a working wife, you can still qualify if your husband is incapacitated.

You can also benefit if you file as a married couple, where both husband and wife work and file a joint return. If your combined income is $4,500 or below, you can deduct the full $600. Your deduction is reduced by the amount of your income above $4,500.

Can Deduct $300

Thus if your income is $4,800, you can deduct only $300. But if your income is $5,100 or more, you are not entitled to any deduction.

One very important point to remember—if you claim this deduction, you must itemize your dependent-care expenses and all your other deductions. You can't benefit from this provision if you take the standard, automatic deduction of 10 per cent of your income offered to most taxpayers.

The provision applies to expenses in this calendar year, which started Jan. 1. You can deduct them in your income tax return due next April 15.

So if you quality, you might want to start now keeping a record of your deductible expenses.

You can't deduct child-care expenses if they are paid to your own dependents. And of course you can't deduct baby-sitter expenses while you are out frolicking.

The theory is to permit a deduction for expenses you must incur to make a living—just as regular business expenses are deductible.

Kapner Speaks To Lions Members

Jerome Kapner, vice president and general manager of Anti-Corrosive Metal Products Company, Inc., of Castleton-on-Hudson, was the speaker at the regular Tuesday luncheon meeting of the Lions Club at the Governor Clinton Hotel.

Speaking for the speaker's bureau of the National Association of Manufacturers, Kapner envisioned a sound economic future for America, pointing to a Bureau of the Census estimate that the United States may reach a population of 200 million persons by the time of the next census in 1960. More population, he pointed out, will mean more production, and greater prosperity for all.

Kapner was introduced by Hubert Richter, program chairman for the month of August.

DEALING WITH BOYS

For years Father Flanagan's Boys Town in Nebraska has been an example of what can be done to set boys on the right path. Its founder was convinced that there are no bad boys. Although he is dead those who carry on his work perpetuate that belief.

In a recent interview with an Associated Press reporter Boys Town officials said that the antidotes to juvenile delinquency are trust, a chance at accomplishment and an opportunity to earn respect.

The boys who come to Boys Town are not saints. Many of them come from broken homes, homes with poor environment, homes where love and warmth are lacking. But the treatment they receive lets them know that they are expected to be honest. They are taught skills and given the opportunity to excell at sports, academic subjects, trades or other endeavors. They leave as good citizens.

Very often it is the desire for recognition that turns a youngster into a delinquent. He steals because he wants to be one of the gang. He picks up the attitudes toward law that his gang holds and won't deviate because he doesn't want to be different. By providing youngsters with the chance to accomplish something worthwhile and wholesome this problem is eliminated.

Corrective institutions for the young, as well as parents who have trouble with their own youngsters, could learn a great deal from the successful way Boys Town deals with its problems. In an air of democracy, love and faith boys are given the chance to be good. That's all most of them ever need.

BACK TO NATURE

Summer is the time when millions of Americans take wing. They pile into their cars, or onto buses, trains and planes, and go about seeing their country.

For many of these folk it is not a matter of gadding around from one state to another, or one national park to another. They practically abandon the baking brick and steaming asphalt of the city for weeks or months, taking up residence in the green countryside or on a sandy beach.

This is for such people a time of renewal. It is that refreshing moment of the year when they are reminded of the elemental beauty of sky and land and water. They feel soft soil and grass beneath their feet.

By day they look at a sky alternately a brilliant azure and a pattern of blue puffed with the white giant thunderheads. By night they see stars blinking like motionless fireflies seen against a black dome.

The friendly warmth of trees rich with foliage they find all about them. As the wind rustles through, it plays an ageless melody to recall man's ancient ties to the land.

The affinity seems closer on fragrant summer mornings, when dew wets the grass and makes the air come alive with pleasant odors. And the link is complete as birds fill the air with song.

Men belong to the land, indeed, to all nature. Some never forget it, but millions do. They often so divorce themselves from it that they come to believe they abhor it, and actually prefer the artificial world of stone and steel and smoke and grime.

Most psychologists will tell you that we all need a sense of belonging. But it is not enough to feel that we belong to other people, wonderfully satisfying though it is. We need to belong to a place.

The lucky ones have a patch of earth they can call their own, or at least can use and enjoy. The unfortunates have no piece of ground they can claim, nor none they can develop attachment for.

But the worst off are those who do not even yearn to see and feel and know nature at first hand. They imagine there are substitutes for this experience. But there are not.

The land and sky and water make a rich reservoir of spiritual happiness. The land is an anchor that can help to steady us. We need the feeling of renewal and the sense of attachment that comes from identifying ourselves with nature's elements.

Our world might be a little saner if more of us remembered this.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

BLOOD, SWEAT AND TEARS

Politicians have long learned to use a phrase to stir the popular imagination. Such a phrase saves the people from the need of thinking. All they have to do is to repeat the phrase over and over again and then they believe that it is true. Theodore Roosevelt invented the phrase, "The Square Deal," which actually had no precise political meaning. The assumption was that most politicians, when playing the card game, poker, then as popular as bridge or canasta is in this generation, dealt the cards from the bottom as well as off the top of the deck, but that Teddy dealt straight.

Franklin D. Roosevelt improved upon this distant cousin's phrase and made it "The New Deal," a rather confused adventure in politics and economics, having to do with doing at every political moment what came naturally without regard to the future. It was a most successful phrase because it gave Roosevelt four winning elections.

Winston Churchill came back into the politics of Great Britain, when it seemed as though Hitler would win World War II, with the dramatic phrase, "Blood, Sweat and Tears"—which is all that he could offer his people. It electrified them into resistance to the enemy. It stirred them to an historic effort of the greatest magniture. It was a wonder-working phrase.

Imagine my surprise when I came across a political poster of 1844, headed "Hurrah for Birney & Liberty!" Never having heard of Birney but being a collector of anything that comes my way, I got a photostat of the poster from Larry Johnson who sells groceries in Syracuse and runs an old-fashioned country store.

It would seem that back in 1839, the Abolitionists, organizing the Liberty Party, nominated James G. Birney for the Presidency, but he declined. In 1843, they repeated this nomination of James G. Birney who got 62,000 votes in the election of 1844 which was sufficient to upset the hopes of Henry Clay and resulted in the election to the Presidency of James K. Polk.

The Birney poster contains the following paragraph:

"Anti-Monopolists, come and lend your aid for the overthrow of a mountain monopoly, compared with which all the other monopolies in this land are but as the 'small dust of the balance.' A monopoly whose capital is Twelve Hundred Millions of Dollars, all invested in human muscles and bones and sinews; and which, in its results, not only extorts from its immediate victims their toil and sweat and tears and blood, but annually drains uncounted millions from the pockets of the free North, and renders American Republicanism a hissing and by-word on the lips of all the Despots of the Old World."

There is no reason to believe that Winston Churchill ever heard of James G. Birney or his poster and we must assume that Churchill invented, "Blood, Sweat and Tears" out of his own head, he being very good at that sort of thing.

But this is an interesting historic fact. The Birney poster was for two mass meetings in Madison County, New York State. For years this particular poster hung in a country store in a town called Canesaraga in Madison County. Probably because nobody could pronounce Canesaraga, they changed the name to Sullivan which is what the town is now called to the everlasting joy of the Irish. Not many miles away is Pompey, a town in which, I am informed, lived a fine American girl, Jenny Jerome, who in due course became the mother of Winston Churchill.

Now, there it is. Winston Churchill got his wonder-working phrase pre-natally by osmosis. If you do not believe that, you will not believe that Bacon wrote Shakespeare, that Sam Rosenman wrote Franklin D. Roosevelt's speeches, that sometimes Haydn wrote Mozart and vice-versa, that nobody ever rolled his own. You must wonder that Socrates never wrote a book or why the learned and wise and fat Dr. Johnson has come down to us through the gay and somewhat profligate Scotsman, Boswell.

Well, I offer no explanation for these phenomena. But the Birney poster is real even if Birney is so forgotten that his name is hardly an historic memory as it is with so many other candidates for the Presidency. As for Winston Churchill, he still holds forth in fine Georgian English, the master phrase-maker of our time.

That Body of Yours

By JAMES W. BARTON, M.D.

THE DIABETIC AND HIS DIET

Before the time in the 1902's when Drs. Banting and Best discovered insulin, anyone stricken with diabetes knew that death was only a matter of time because diabetes was always fatal. Now, however, with the use of insulin and following some simple advice as to treatment, especially diet, diabetics may live as long as the non-diabetics. The diabetic needs to know and understand why his diet has been planned especially for him. For example, he may compare his diet with that given his neighbor, who is also a diabetic, and find that they are not the same. This may be, for example, because one does a different type of work than the other, has a different body build and body requirements, and thus the number of calories will be greatly different.

Another point to remember in outlining a diet for a diabetic is his environment, his surroundings. He may be taking his meals at home in which case it is comparatively easy to have the correct type and amounts of food, or he may be eating in restaurants or canteens where it is very difficult to obtain his proper diet. He also will prefer some foods more than others, as everyone does. And the amount of money he can afford to spend on food will influence his choice of foods.

We should remember that it is a great shock for a person to be told that he has diabetes and must remain on a diet, perhaps for the rest of his life. For a time the bottom seems to have dropped out of everything. Reassurance is what he needs. It should be remembered also that the patient usually is quite curious about his ailment and this curiosity should be satisfied. He should be given a chance to learn all about food values and the principles behind the selection of his diet.

It might be interesting to compare the make-up of the normal diet as compared with the diabetic diet. Looking at the three main groups: Carbohydrates (starches and sweets), 1,000 calories daily for the normal person and 600 calories for the diabetic. Protein (meats, eggs, fish), 240 calories for the normal person and 300 for the diabetic. Fats (butter, cream, egg yolk), 540 for the normal diet and 810 for the diabetic. Thus we see that, in general, the diabetic increases his proteins and fats slightly and decreases his carbohydrates to a larger extent.

A sample diet might be:

Breakfast: One portion fruit, cereal and cream or a slice of bread and butter, 1 or 2 eggs, or 1 egg and bacon, coffee.

Luncheon: Meat or fish; vegetables (except corn and potatoes); fruit, 1 slice bread.

Dinner: Same as at noon or more abundant and usually containing a salad.

Our Changing World

Edson's Washington News Notebook

Washington — (NEA) —President Syngman Rhee of Korea, invited to Washington by President Eisenhower, had several run-ins with Alger Hiss during World War 2, according to Dr. You Chan Yang, Korean ambassador to the United States.

Rhee was in Washington then, trying to stir up interest in post-war Korean independence. He tried to get the State Department to approve sending him to Korea so he could lead a revolt against the Japanese.

"Many times he was unable to see the division chiefs," says Ambassador Yang. "He had to be content with the cold and negative intellectual arrogance of a young man—now a number in a penitentiary—but then known as Alger Hiss. He would listen with detached indifference to the pleas of a leader who had suffered exile, imprisonment and torture in behalf of the rights of man."

Dr. Yang told this story in a recent speech at the Warren R. Austin Institute of World Understanding at University of Vermont. Dr. Yang also told another story about President Rhee.

On one occasion Rhee had to jump into a spare coffin to save his skin. He was escaping to China after a futile attempt to start a Korean revolution in 1919. On the way to China his ship docked at a Japanese port. To avoid arrest, Rhee occupied a coffin alongside dead Chinese being returned to their homeland for burial. A trusted lieutenant, now Col. Ben C. Limb, Korean ambassador to the UN, stood guard over him in the ship's hold.

Tennessee Valley Authority spokesmen deny the charge frequently made against TVA that it has drawn industries from other sections of the country to take advantage of its low power rates.

With the exception of light metals, heavy chemicals and the Atomic Energy Commission—all of which located their new plants where large blocks of cheap power are available—not one single industry has yet been reported to have moved from any other section of the country to the TVA area, say its officials.

TVA industrial power rates are said to be not substantially lower than industrial rates offered by many private power companies. And aside from the aluminum and chemicals industries, power rates are not a controlling cost of operation of most industries. Where TVA rates are really low is in the charges it makes to residential consumers and to farmers.

Dr. George W. Calver, the Capitol physician, makes it a point to be on the Senate floor whenever there are night sessions. Senators suspect that their doctor sticks around because he fears the night sessions are a threat to their health, and because of the high death rate among senators this year.

One senator accused Dr. Calver of this openly. "Doc," he said, "You look like an old turkey buzzard hanging around for us to die."

Dr. Calver denied it. "You men are in your best condition when you are speaking and campaigning. The arm waving and exercise you give your vocal cords is the principal thing that keeps you in shape."

Commissioner of Patents Robert C. Watson has ordered all Patent Office employes to take a new look at the official writing they do. The Government Printing Office has reported to Watson that the mistakes in grammar and punctuation which have to be corrected in the Patent Office copy cost about $50,000 a year. The total printing bill for the Patent Office runs about $2 million a year.

Commissioner Watson has also asked his examiners to be less windy in describing patents. And he has ordered them not to have unnecessary drawings included in official patent publications.

Sen. John Kennedy (D., Mass.) was on crutches for over a week, but this didn't prevent him from tackling a heavy schedule. It was an old war injury which put the young senator on crutches. His leg was injured in Pacific action when a PT boat he commanded was run down and sunk by a Japanese destroyer.

For two days he led a fight on the floor of the Senate to raise and extend unemployment insurance benefits. On the first day of debate his Massachusetts colleague, Republican Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, asked unanimous consent to allow Kennedy to sit on the arm of his chair while making his address. No one objected, and in this way Senator Kennedy kept the weight off his injured foot.

Man-Eating Fish

New York (AP) — A rare black piranha, an 11-inch man-eating fish that can bite a finger off with one snap, is on exhibition in the aquarium of the Bronx Zoo. Two more are being studied in tanks in the zoo's laboratory. Although other species of piranhas are common, these are the first black piranhas to be exhibited in any aquarium, zoo officials say. It is impossible to keep more than one in a tank because they bite huge chunks out of each other. A naturalist once described the piranha as "probably the wickedest fish that swims; by the side of him a shark is a perfect gentleman."

Barrage of Letters Scoring McCarthy Show He's Victim of 'Witch Hunt' Himself

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Aug. 3—The Roman Senate called it "ad hominem," which means an attack on the man rather than the issues he raises, and evidently senatorial habits haven't changed through centuries of time.

The effort to "get McCarthy" is slowly reaching the proportions of a widely instigated hysteria. Judging from some of the vituperative letters which are coming to the members of Congress from anti-McCarthyites, the writers want to use any totalitarian method—from abuse to conviction without a trial—if only to rid the Senate of its most spectacular prosecutor of Communists.

Even United States Senators of the so-called "liberal" school are saying that, while the Constitution declares that no citizen shall be deprived of his right of free speech—and Justice Oliver Wendell Holmes of the Supreme Court defined this as "freedom for the thought we hate"—the Wisconsin Senator nevertheless must be publicly "censured" for the opinions he expresses. The Constitution says in an article about the rights of members of Congress:

"And for any speech or debate in either house, they shall not be questioned in any other place."

This now is being construed by a small number of anti-McCarthy Senators as meaning that a Senator can be punished for his views by the Senate itself, which is but another way of saying that, because each house of Congress makes its own "rules" of procedure and passes on credentials after elections, this gives Congress the right to invoke that same authority to censure a member publicly for his attitude toward public policies.

This is a form of "thought control" which does not square with the utterances of so-called "liberals" who have been claiming that citizens were being punished for being members of the Communist party. The courts have ruled that leaders of that party are engaged in a conspiracy to overthrow the government. Mr. McCarthy ought at least to have the same civil rights as Communists claim.

Far from being a disadvantage to the anti-Communist crusade in America, the controversy initiated by Senator Flanders of Vermont is turning out to be a salutary development. It is exposing to full view the arbitrary methods of anti-anti-Communists, and it will probably lead now to a full dress debate in the Senate or before the new select committee on every phase of the charges made against the Wisconsin Senator. It will presumably give him a larger audience than before to reveal all the tricks and intrigues of Communist-connected witnesses who have refused to give their own government even the simplest facts concerning their knowledge of the Communist activity of others.

As for the charges against McCarthy, the man, these continue to be spread without the slightest evidence of guilt, and there are many who call themselves "liberals" who are so emotional that they are ready to convict Senator McCarthy without hearing or reading any of the evidence from his side. They justify this as "a dose of his own medicine," thus ignoring the age-old maxim that two wrongs never made a single right.

The specific charges or "bill of particulars" given by other Senators in their attempt to get a "censure" resolution passed relate to incidents that have already been dealt with. The Truman administration investigated Senator McCarthy's income-tax returns and, if it could have prosecuted him, it would have done so. The Department of Justice examined all the other charges and found no violation of law. As for the article written by Senator McCarthy for publication as a booklet on housing for veterans, the manuscript of which was bought by the Lustron Corporation, a newspaper which was called to account in a libel suit for its attack on Senator McCarthy on this very charge finally acknowledged in a public statement it was "convinced that Senator McCarthy's part in this transaction was on the same plane as the common practice among legislators of accepting fees for speeches and earning other fees for legitimate services."

The same newspaper stated that "there has not been any evidence presented before any committee or elsewhere that Senator McCarthy in any way attempted to intercede in behalf of Lustron." This refers to any possible impropriety in doing a favor for the Lustron Corporation, which was then doing business with the government. Its contracts were with the Truman executive agencies with which the Wisconsin senator, of course, had no influence.

Yet United States senators on the "liberal" side have been demanding that the Senate, without taking any further testimony, without giving any hearing and without getting all the facts, should render a verdict of "guilty" against the Wisconsin senator. That's the trend now among the "liberals"—to forget all the rules of fair play and to condemn the senator from Wisconsin just because many of their constituents, swept with an emotional prejudice, are demanding his scalp. If that isn't "witch-hunting," then the anti-McCarthyites have been misusing the term.

So far as the Senate "liberals" are concerned—many of whom have been accepting fees for speeches before labor unions and trade associations—they cannot "cast the first stone," as they are not now "without sin" themselves, if indeed it be sinful for a senator to make a speech before an organization which has legislation pending in Congress. The rise in hypocrisy here seems to coincide with the rise in temperature on Capitol Hill.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

New York, Aug. 2—Well, we owe thanks to Jonathan Daniels for confirming at last the fact that Col. E. M. House, the Rasputin and/or Harry Hopkins of the Wilson regime, actually wrote a weird plan for dictatorship entitled "Philip Dru: Administrator." Few of our people at present ever heard of this book. In recent years I have seen it mentioned only rarely, usually in small, angry publications which insisted that the Roosevelt-Truman operation was the fulfillment of a dirty plot and naming House as the author.

About two years ago, I got a copy from a renting library. After forcing my way through a novel in the stilted style of Horatio Alger with a chilly, formal love-theme, I gave it up. A well-known pro-Roosevelt book publisher assured me that E. M. House did not write it. The author is not named in the copy which I have now obtained for reference, which was published by Huebsch, New York, in 1912, the year Wilson was nominated for his first term.

To what extent House helped Bryan and Josephus Daniels put Wilson over at Baltimore, ditching Champ Clark, who probably would have turned his back on "the interminable wars of Europe," we don't know. However, Jonathan says House liked to use his money for political results. And he states with authority that House wrote "a book called 'Philip Dru; Administrator,' about an American president who took over and redesigned government in the United States."

Daniels bats the ears off House, calls him a cutthroat with an evil countenance who was "fascinated with power" and says he used to pack a gun.

But the fascinating fact remains that Daniels has thus authenticated the blueprint of a revolutionary political plan which has largely been fulfilled by Roosevelt, Truman, and Eisenhower. Other phases were tried but frustrated not necessarily permanently.

This fictitious Dru was a West Pointer who organized a military revolution in which he licked the government army somewhere near Buffalo, in the early 1920's.

Dru then seized power. There is a strong resemblance in the Philip Dru and F. D. Roosevelt "reforms." Some elements of Dru's feat such as the court-packing was tried by Roosevelt and frustrated. Others were proposed as trial balloons and abandoned.

The First World War was two years off when the book was published so House made an awful fool of himself in his strategy and logistics. His revolutionary war consisted of one battle in which the army of the United States was smashed in a few paragraphs with terrible casualties.

Dru presumed always to receive guidance from "the people." It is a creepy experience now to read this quaint but sinister stuff and observe the systematic identity of Dru's mentality and conduct with Hitler's, Mussolini's and Roosevelt's. He appoints boards and commissions, not neglecting a professariat of high-principled, "progressive" nonentities. Because the supreme court had held the earlier income tax unconstitutional, Dru decided that the court should have no power to rule on constitutionality. He said "the people" had wanted this tax and his wrath clearly sounded the pitch for Roosevelt's sneers at the Nine Old Men for knocking out his comprehensive Fascist scheme embodied in the NRA. Like Roosevelt and his palace guard, Dru was constantly looking back to Socialist Europe for novelties and expert authorities.

No legislatures were sitting when Dru took charge so "the function of law-making was confined to the administrator." He was constantly placing "suggestions" before his cabinet and commissioners and directing that they be molded into law. So that the people might know he had only their welfare in mind, he advised them that the constitution was "obsolete, even grotesque."

Then this dictator, whose opponents were silenced by fear, blandly says the President hitherto had had too much power and accordingly relegates the holder of that office to mere ceremonial duties. The real power is conferred on an officer called the "executive," chosen by the House of Representatives for an unlimited term. Roosevelt's term was for the remainder of his life so the same result was achieved by a different

Church Gifts

Waterbury, Conn. (AP) — Her dead aunt's engagement ring was all one woman said she could give toward a fund being raised for improvements at the First Methodist Church. The Rev. Charles B. Hart was reluctant to accept the gift feeling it represented too great a sacrifice. Then the Waterbury Republican mentioned the incident. A day or so later, Hart received a telephone call from a person "who doesn't belong to our church," offering to donate the value of the ring to the improvement fund. The check which followed was $550. But, says Hart, the ring donor insisted that the church keep it. It will be set into a cross which will be installed above the Communion table in the sanctuary.

Politicians Protest

St. Ignace, Mich. (AP)—A political office was open and not one politician even nibbled at it. Five St. Ignace attorneys made an agreement not to seek the office of Mackinac county prosecutor. It was their way of protesting the smallness of the $2,300 annual salary paid for the job—and that includes hiring a clerk.

Colette Dies at 81 At Paris Home

GABRIELLE COLETTE

Paris, Aug. 4 (AP) — Gabrielle Colette, 81-year-old French writer whose novels of love and passion won world acclaim over half a century, died last night at her Paris apartment.

She was best known in America for "Gigi," which had a highly successful Broadway run after American Playwright Anita Loos adapted it as a stage play.

Colette personally picked Audrey Hepburn, a little-known British actress, to play the Broadway lead in "Gigi." Miss Hepburn's performance skyrocketed her to stardom.

Writing under her last name only, Colette was one of France's most popular modern novelists and a darling of the critics as well.

Advanced age and illness kept her in bed or in a wheelchair the last years of her life. But she kept on working until a few months before her death, supervising stage and movie adaptations of her many novels.

Started as Ghostwriter

She started her career as a ghost writer — authoring books that bore her husband's pen name, Willy. Later they published their works as collaborations under the name of Colette Willy.

Their greatest joint success was the "Claudine" series of novels, begun in 1900 and based on Colette's own experiences.

Among the many novels she turned out, the most famous probably were "Cheri," "Chance Encounters," "Adorable Dialogues," "L'ingenue Libertine," "Mitsou" and "La Chatte."

Hale and Hearty

Two Hospitalized, Car Demolished In Esopus Wreck

Two Astoria, L. I., residents were treated at Kingston Hospital this morning for injuries suffered when their car turned over about 6:45 a. m. on Route 9W about a mile north of Esopus.

Euripides H. Stassi, 21, of 2217 36th street, and Savva Zinona, 20, of 2218 23rd street, were treated for back injuries but were not admitted.

Trooper W. H. Beebe of the Highland Station, who investigated, said the car, driven by Stassi, had been cut off by an unknown vehicle, pulled over to the right side of the road and turned over, coming to rest on the roof. The car was southbound at the time.

Beebe said the road was covered with gasoline by the accident and was sprayed with water by the Esopus Fire Department. He said the car was completely demolished.

Girl's Condition Good

A nine-year-old girl was reported in good condition at Kingston Hospital today following an accident at Camp Hi-Wing at Krumville early Tuesday afternoon. A spokesman for the sheriff's office said the girl, Jan Vaingre, whose address was not available, ran from the dining room about 1:30 p. m. onto the wet grass and slid into a parked car. It was reported she sustained head and body bruises.

Repairs Needed

Pittsburgh, Pa. (AP) — Howard Kelly, 26, long will remember his auto wreck—and so will various agencies. Kelly's car smashed a utility pole used for many purposes as subsequent events proved. A passenger riding with Kelly was hurt but he escaped injury. He stood by as emergency crews rushed to the scene. First came the police. Then an ambulance. In order came repairmen to fix a broken traffic signal control apparatus, another group of men to repair a fire alarm box and a third to repair a police call box. Then came the federal government, to repair a mail box. And finally, the light company sent a crew because vital electrical service in the area had been knocked out.

Political Barometer?

Taloga, Okla. (AP) — Two benches on a downtown street have labels in black letters, one "Republican," the other "Democrat." One observer refused to assert any party implication when he reported six people were sitting on the Republican bench, four on the Democrat and one man was straddling the arm between the benches.

Watch That Aftermath!

Willdimantic, Conn. (AP) — Charles J. Insalaco, 23, was unhurt when his car skidded on a curve, overturned and then slid along on its side before coming to a halt. As he climbed from the wreck he fell and sprained his wrist.

Stock Owners Are Extra Happy Over Dividends Relief

By SAM DAWSON

New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—Some seven million owners of corporate stocks are extra happy today over tax relief on dividends. That's because dividend payments this year are riding 7.5 per cent higher than a year ago.

And prospects are good for generous divvying-up with the share owners in the rest of the year.

Percentage gains in dividends are greater than the rise in corporate earnings. And they run counter to the general drop in industrial activity.

The new tax law may help stockholders to get a still higher percentage of corporate gross earnings. Tax relief will allow many corporations to bring down a greater percentage of their gross earnings to net profits after taxes.

Since, henceforth, the shareholder won't have to report all of his dividends as taxable income, April 15 will be a happier day for him. And the amount involved isn't small.

Billions Are Paid

The Office of Business Economics of the Department of Commerce reports that corporations paid out about 4¼ billions of dollars in dividends in the first six months of 1954. In the same period of 1953, a time of booming industrial activity, they paid less than four billions.

Not all stockholders have gained. Some have seen smaller dividend checks, or none at all. Companies cutting payments are scattered through most industries. But the federal agency reports that the industrial groups which have paid less as a whole are: Textiles, leather, non-ferrous metals, and automobiles.

To these the New York Stock Exchange, in its monthly magazine out today, adds the following from stocks listed with it: Farm machinery, American-owned companies operating abroad, and foreign stocks listed on the exchange.

Gain Is Reported

For its 1,070 listed common stock issues as a whole, the exchange also reports the gain this year in dividends paid out was 7.5 per cent. It says 924 of the common stocks paid dividends, with 520 shelling out the same amount as last year. But 314 paid more than a year ago, and only 125 paid less. The 125 are scattered through all 27 of the categories in which it lists its stocks.

Biggest percentage gain in amounts paid, the exchange reports, was in the aircraft industry, up 77 per cent. Largest dollar volume was by the utilities—104 of their common stocks paying a total of 561½ million dollars, a gain of 11 per cent. A close second was the 473 million total paid the share owners by only 49 oil and natural gas issues.

Bets on Payments

Wall Street is betting on dividend payments increasing still more. First half earnings for industry as a whole pulled a shade ahead of the 1953 period. They may not look quite so impressive in the current quarter, since this summer the dullness is more pronounced than in recent years. But the whole year's profits are expected to compare favorobly, especially if the fall pick-up comes along as expected.

Many boards of directors have followed a restricted dividend policy since World War II, plowing back a large part of earnings into the business. Many companies have finished their expansion programs now. And directors can look with a kindlier eye on sharing the wealth with the stockholders.

Wall Street hopes a golden flow of dividends, plus tax relief, will lure more Americans into brokerage offices and push the number of share owners in the land above the present estimate of seven million.

Apology Accepted

Dallas (AP)—Justice of the Peace Glenn Byrd rendered a $50 judgment against a man who failed to pay all of a doctor's bill. "Much obliged for this kangaroo court," snapped the defendant. Byrd, reddening, declared he was merely following the law and added: "I'm a mind to get off this bench and take you on." Byrd is a big man. The defendant took a long long and said, "I believe you would and could, judge. I apologize." They shook hands.

Financial and Commercial

New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—The stock market broke sharply just before noon today.

Starting active and higher with aircrafts in the lead, the market began to ease after the first hour.

Then, at 11:34 a. m. (EDT) the tape began to run late and stock prices began to tumble. Steels were hardest hit, aircrafts erased most of there earlier gains (as much as three points in some cases) and railroads nosed downward.

By 11:41 a. m. (EST) the tape was four minutes late with prices continuing to slide.

Brokers said the market was taking profits on some issues which have climbed sharply in recent sessions. General Dynamics, for example, which advanced nearly nine points since the week began, turned down sharply. Steels and aircrafts also have been market leaders recently.

WHEN PRICES MESMERIZE

The pressure of money in the securities markets has put the prices of high grade bonds through the roof. The best bonds in the world (Uncle Sam's) reflect this condition.

The government's 3¼'s, due in 24 years, are selling at 111. There are buyers willing to pay $1,110 for a $1,000 obligation, carrying interest income of $32.50 annually. The bonds will be retired at face value. Hence, a present buyer holding the bonds to maturity stands to lose $110 on each obligation.

And the government 2½'s, due in two years, are selling at $102—$1,020 for a $1,000 bond. Buyers are willing to pay a premium for a bond of very short maturity to get $25 a year.

I have intentionally selected a short-term and a long-term bond, to show how an abundance of dollars has forced prices high and yields low.

This is a condition enveloping millions of investors. Many are mesmerized by it. A representative investor said to me today: "These bonds must be good, when they sell above their face value even though the interest income is small."

The insidious character of cheap money is little understood by the rank-and-file investor. He fails to see and understand the bad logic of high living costs and low interest rates. So, with his bonds selling at interesting premiums, he complaisantly concludes there must be sound economic reasons for low income when, really, there aren't.

This is such a universal problem, affecting so many people, that this column occasionally treats of it and points the way to its solution.

The problem, briefly stated, runs like this: An investor badly needs more income; he cannot take chances with his money. So, he searches diligently for vehicles of investment carrying small risk and higher returns.

What does he do? He asks his broker, banker, or adviser to make suggestions. Then, taking all the time in the world, he isolates each idea, subjecting it to the most objective reasoning. And a suitable decision is eventually made.

I shall illustrate: A few month ago, a reader of this column bought some government 3¼'s of 1978, at 100. He has just sold $4,000 of them for $4,400. The re-investment of this money is a very serious business—and out of a dozen ideas submitted to him, he has picked the one outlined here. It happens to be the common stock of one of the strongest financial institutions in the world.

He took the June 30, 1954 statement home with him one night. With the aid of an experienced auditor, he studied it intently. The capital structure, as of June 30, was as follows:

Capital	$ 30,000,000
Surplus	100,000,000
Profits	13,000,000
	$ 143,000,000

There are 300,000 shares of common stock outstanding ($100 par). With a capital account of $143 millions, the solid book-value of each share is $476.

This reader paid $4,000 for 10 shares. During 1953 the stock paid $23 a share. So, during 1954 (with bank earnings higher), it looks as if he will receive at least $230 on his $4,000. That would be 5.7 per cent on his investment.

Incidentally, the shares of America's best financial institutions selling below book-value are good purchases for those wanting to escape the penalties of cheap money.

Let every reader who is involved in the problems of low interest rates and high living costs remember:

First—to isolate sound re-investment ideas and . . .

Second—when careful analysis has been made, to select with the utmost care securities that will fit the individual's needs.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

You'd Be Proud of This Opening Bid

BY OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

North wasn't proud of his opening bid, and no wonder. Queens and jacks are very useful cards, to be sure, but an opening bid with only one ace and with no kings at all is a rather doubtful venture.

North happened to catch his partner with a very fine hand. South headed for a slam as soon as his partner opened the bidding, for which he can hardly be blamed. At that, the play for slam was quite reasonable, depending on a diamond finesse at worst.

Perhaps if you were playing the hand, you would say that the slam depends on the diamond finesse—pure and simple. If so, look again. South has an additional resource which he should not neglect.

When the hand was actually played, West offered the four of spades and dummy won with the ace. Declarer then made the key play by leading the low heart from the dummy.

East should have stepped up with the king of hearts, but not one player in a thousand would make this fine play. The actual East played low, and South's ten forced out West's ace of hearts.

West shifted to trumps, and dummy won with the eight of clubs. Now declarer led the queen of hearts from dummy and East forlornly played his king.

Naturally, this was exactly what South had been hoping for He ruffed the king of hearts, ruffed a spade to get back to dummy, and led the jack of hearts in order to discard his losing diamond.

From here on it was plain sailing. South took the ace of diamonds, ruffed his last low spade in the dummy, and ruffed a diamond to return to his own hand in order to draw trumps.

Police Guard Joseph N. Welch

Boston, Aug. 4 (AP)—State and local police today continued guarding the Walpole home and Cape Cod summer retreat of Joseph N. Welch, army counsel in the recent Army-McCarthy hearings, after word from Washington that an attempt might be made to kill him.

The armed guard was set up last night after Washington police informed Boston authorities that the man was reported by his wife to have left his home in Montgomery county, Maryland, with a German Luger pistol.

Police quoted the woman as saying her husband has had a grudge against Welch since 1941. Washington police did not say from what incident, if any, the grudge stemmed.

Police questioned all men who answered the description of the man who was alleged to have threatened to kill Welch. The man was described as a mechanical engineer who has worked in Truro on Cape Cod and who lately had been employed for a construction firm in Maryland.

Welch could not be reached for comment.

"There must be something I can beat you at," Willingham told his companion. "I'll bet you I can jump off the bridge." The two rode to the bridge and Willingham then dove off, yelling: "It's a Long Way to Tipperary," police said.

Rowdyism Leads To Wounding of Woman in Bronx

New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—An 18-year-old youth whose alleged rowdyism in a movie theatre led indirectly to the wounding of a young woman in the Bronx yesterday afternoon was arraigned in Night Court last night on a charge of simple assault.

The youth, Edward Ritchie, of 4064 Bronx Blvd., was paroled in custody of his father, Charles, after appearing before Magistrate Hyman Korn. He is scheduled to appear at a hearing in the youth term of Bronx Magistrate's Court.

Police said he was apprehended about an hour after he allegedly knocked down Julius Miller, manager of the Wakefield Theatre, at 4214 White Plains road.

This incident, police said, led indirectly to the wounding of Mrs. Mary Anderson, 25, of 4254 Carpenter avenue. She was wounded, police said, when a patrolman who joined Miller in pursuit of the youth fired a warning shot that ricocheted and struck her in the right leg.

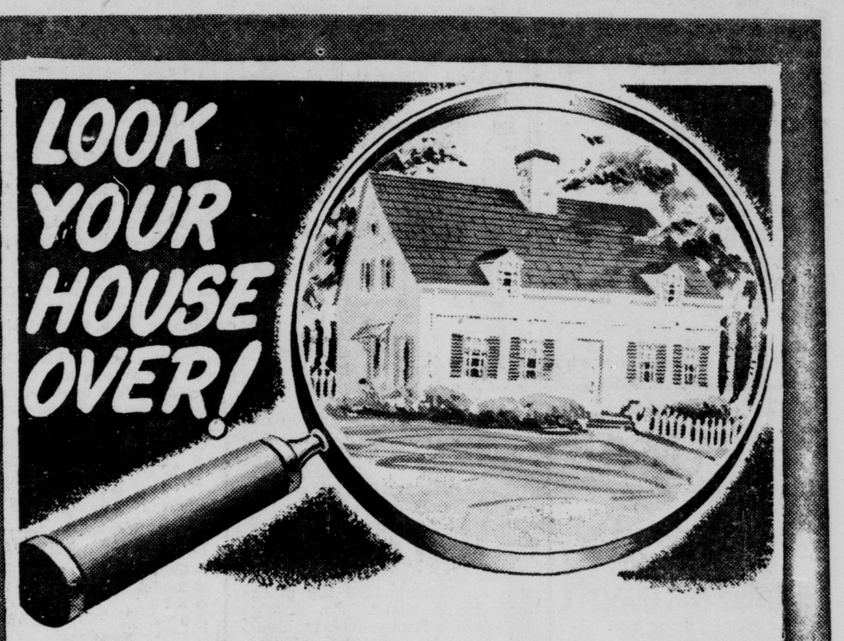

Police said Ritchie struck Miller in the back of the neck, knocking him to the floor of the theatre, shortly after Miller had ejected a friend of Ritchie.

Miller got up to pursue the youth and was joined by Patrolman John Guarino, who fired a warning shot as the youth ran west on 234th street.

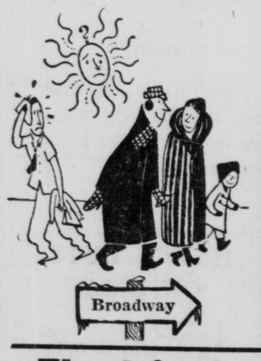

When the patrolman saw Mrs. Anderson fall after he had fired, he ran to her aid. She was taken to Fordham Hospital where her condition was described as fair.

MileageTaxPlates Will Go On Sale

Albany, Aug. 4 (AP)—New state mileage tax plates and permits will go on sale at $2 a set this fall to operators of heavy trucks plying New York highways.

Allen J. Goodrich, president of the State Tax Commission, announced yesterday truckers would be required to replace the current plates and permits issued under the weight-distance tax law by next Feb. 1.

The plates will go on sale Oct. 1, but may not be displayed until January.

All vehicles having maximum gross weights of more than 18,000 pounds must display the plates while operating on the state's highways. The plates serve to identify vehicles on monthly mileage tax returns and aid police in enforcement.

Initial plates and permits cost $5 a set. The fee for replacement of a valid set will be $2.

3 Senators Win, Short Turns Back His Opposition

By The Associated Press

Three U. S. Senators won renomination in four state primaries yesterday and Rep. Dewey Short (R.-Mo.) turned back a strong threat to his 20-year congressional career.

Sens. Matthew M. Neely (D.-W. Va.) and Andrew F. Schoeppel (R.-Kan.) won easily over light opposition. Sen. Homer Ferguson (R.-Mich.) was unopposed.

Short, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, admitted getting a "little scare" but won comfortably over State Sen. Noel Cox.

All but one of the 41 House members seeking renomination either won or were leading.

The Kansas primary featured a revolt against the GOP State House Administration. Lt. Gov. Fred Hall held a mounting lead in his challenge to take over party leadership from the forces of retiring Gov. Edward F. Arn.

Hall, seeking the GOP nomination for governor, was trailed by George Templar, former U.S. district attorney who had the support of the state's party leadership.

Congressmen Win

All incumbent congressmen won their races in Kansas, Missouri and West Virginia. And all but one of the six Michigan Congressmen opposed for renomination held leads. Veteran Democrat George D. O'Brien trailed by a narrow margin.

Sen. Matthew M. Neely (D.-W. Va.) was renominated to a fifth term, topping the closest of his three opponents 4 to 1. In Kansas, GOP Sen. Andrew F. Schoeppel triumphed easily over two opponents. Sen. Homer Ferguson of Michigan, chairman of the Senate GOP policy committee, was unopposed for renomination.

Rep. Short, chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, admitted his primary opponent, State Sen. Noel Cox, "gave me a little scare for a while." But Short won by a comfortable margin.

Late returns gave Short 33,630, Cox 24,367.

Michigan Primary

Michigan's primary featured a four-way contest for the Republican gubernatorial nomination. The winner was Donald S. Leonard, former state and Detroit police commissioner.

With more than half the votes counted, Leonard had 107,744. His nearest opponent, State Treasurer D. Hale Brake had 86,952.

Leonard will oppose Gov. G. Mennen Williams in November. Williams was unopposed in the Democratic primary, as was Sen. Ferguson's November opponent, union leader Patrick V. McNamara of Detroit.

Tennessee will have a hot primary race tomorrow—pitting Democratic Sen. Estes Kefauver against hard-running Rep. Pat Sutton. The week's final primary will be in Kentucky Saturday.

In the big Kansas contest, nearly complete unofficial returns gave "Rebel" Hall a 14,700-vote lead over Templar in his challenge to the Arn leadership.

West Virginia Republicans nominated Thomas B. Sweeney of Wheeling to oppose the veteran Neely in November. Sweeney had one opponent.

Petitions Are Filed

Sioux Sun Dance No Longer Treat For Young Indian

By HAL BOYLE

Pine Ridge, S. D., Aug. 4 (AP)—The old Sioux, in the days when they ruled the Great Plains, had a festival that combined in theme several of the white man's holidays.

It was called the sun dance, and to the Indians it was Christmas, Easter, Thanksgiving, and a family reunion all wrapped in one.

In those times the wandering Sioux bossed the land and chased the Buffalo from Kansas to Canada, from the Mississippi river to the Rocky Mountains.

But once a year the roving tribesmen came together and were knit into a nation by the sun dance, a ceremonial that symbolized their unity and common faith in the Great Spirit.

The government, in an effort to destroy a tradition which it feared always held the danger of stirring up the fierce Sioux in fresh outbreaks, banned the sun dance in 1886. But it was revived more than 20 years ago, and last week Indians came hundreds of miles to the sprawling Pine Ridge Reservation here for a renewal of the symbolic centuries-old festival.

They Drifted In

In earlier times no formal date for the ceremony was set. The Indians simply drifted together as if pulled by a magnet by nature's signals—the time when the buffalo were fat, when the choke-berries ripened, when the sage sprouts sprang a foot-high, when moccasins made a crisp echo in the dry grass of summer.

This year Frank Fools Crow, chairman of the festival, sent out the call. Thousands of Indians came by horse and wagon, on foot or in beaten up automobiles. They pitched their modern tents and faded tepees around a great enclosure of willow poles hung with green pine boughs.

In the center of the enclosure stood a slender young cottonwood tree. The tree, selected in advance by a medicine man, had been carried to the site and erected by strong braves who took care to see that none of its leaves touched the ground. To the Sioux the leaves of this sacred tree stood for human hearts, and must not be bruised.

Sheafs of sweet-smelling sage — standing for purity — were placed in the crotch. From them dangled a piece of Buffalo robe and a man-shaped figure cut from a piece of buffalo skin, symbolizing the Sioux dependence on the buffalo.

Based on Virtues

The sun dance itself is designed to demonstrate the four great Sioux virtues—bravery, generosity, fortitude and integrity.

This year three young braves volunteered for the ordeal. Two were veterans who had pledged themselves to perform a sun dance in gratitude for their safe return from Korea.

To purify and prepare themselves, the three first took a sweat bath in an "ini", or sweat house, made of willow bows covered with buffalo skins. Steam was provided by pouring water over hot rocks in a pit within the sweat hours.

The dancers were then painted —red for the sun, blue for the sky, yellow for the rocks, green for the earth.

Without food or water the three young men then danced around the cottonwood tree to the music of beating tom-toms—and the eerie, high-pitched chants of singers. They danced in turn in the direction of the four winds, pausing only when the tom-tom beaters had to rest.

Faces Most Interesting

I watched the dance for part of each day, but to me the dance, monotonous in itself, was less interesting than the faces of the old Indians and their squaws on the sidelines.

They wore a look of mingled pride, mystic exaltation and sadness. To them this was no dance of celebration—it was the pageant of mankind's terrible struggle to survive, a victory of man's spirit over all the enemies he meets in his brief life under a blazing sun.

The look on the faces of the young braves in the audience was different. Few seemed stirred by the symbolism of the dance. They were more interested in making eyes at the young Indian maidens. For them the Sun Dance was just another opportunity for courtship.

Frank Fools Crow, who wears long braids as his forefathers did, said sadly:

The young Indians no longer care much for our old customs. This may be our last Sun Dance."

The young braves and their maidens prefer to jitterbug. Slowly but inevitably the once mighty Sioux are taking the white man's roads, roads that will scatter them to the four winds.

Earnings Below Level

New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—The American Locomotive Co. has reported earnings for the first six months of 1954 were almost 20 per cent below the level for the first half of last year. In a statement issued yesterday, the company listed January-June earnings this year as $2,521,000, equal to $1.04 a common stock share after preferred dividends. This was compared with $3,149,000, or $1.38 a share, for the same period in 1953. ALCO said the drop was caused by a continued decline in locomotive orders over the past year and to lower volume in combat tank production. The firm closed out production of army M47 tanks in June.

Roundup Continues

New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—Police continued their roundup of alleged undesirables in the Times Square area into the eighth evening last night, and one of the men seized had been rounded up also on Monday and Sunday night. Edward Cooke, 49, of 6106 43rd avenue, Woodside, Queens, a laborer, was the man taken into custody by police of the West 47th street station three nights in a row on disorderly conduct charges. Last night he was accused of begging, and Magistrate Hyman Korn sent him to the workhouse for 90 days.

Gets Data on WAC Careers

Margaret Whalen of Rochester, seated, concerning details of career service in the Women's Army Corps during the recent stay of the WAC information booth at the Broadway Theatre. Also helping with information is Cpl. Gertrude Wright of Reading, Calif. The WAC booth in Kingston was arranged with the theatre management in connection with the movie, Francis Joins the WACs. It was reported that many local women stopped at the booth to obtain information of that branch of service.

Light Up Sky Is Woodstock Play

Woodstock, Aug. 4—The mercurial temperature of the theatre, from its chaotic depths to its zany heights, is reflected in Light Up The Sky, Moss Hart's sharp comedy, which opened Tuesday night at the Woodstock Playhouse. Hart is a mercilous funster, caricaturing with relentless precision the necessary impediments of the playright—the star, her relatives, the director, the producer and his wife. Witnessing this mass absorption with the play, the self-centered obliviousness, the emotional abandon, can at times be almost uncomfortable, but as the young playright discovers, it's ultimately a matter of acquiring the proper state of mind.

So outrageously burlesque is the role of the play's director Carleton Fitzgerald that Bernard Kates, an exceedingly able artist, had difficulty in keeping the stops down. Only in the scene where he takes emotional flight over a scrub woman does Fitzgerald seem justified, and in that he was truly uproarious.

For Sidney Black, the producer of the extravagant play, it was all a prop for his ego, to make himself a big guy in the eyes of the world. When it almost didn't come off he is revealed, through William Darrid's skillful interpretation, as a wistful little fellow well aware of his own shortcomings.

His wife Frances Black has a tongue as sharp as her ice skates and a wit as gaudy as her diamonds. Ruth Manning creates a brash, hilarious female underscored with an appealing loyalty and understanding of her man. She is abetted in her mercilious shredding of theatre illusions by the star's mother Stella Livingston given a stinging reality by Ruth White. The star herself, Irene Livingston is graceful and erratic in the delightful person of Diana Douglas. Faye Cameron is poised and sympathetic as Miss Lowell.

Edward Wassall injects a bewildered note from the world of Wall Street and Harvard in the person of the forgotten man, Tyler Rayburn the star's husband, and Heywood H. Boun won a round of applause for his vignette of the stagestruck Shriner, William H. Gallagher, along with the celebrating Shriner, John Chandler.

One Quad Survives

Pittsburgh, Aug. 4 (AP)—Tiny Jill Carol, the third of four babies born to the wife of a $40-$50 a week handyman last Friday died early today at Magee Hospital. Her death leaves the first-born quadruplet, Janet Elaine, the lone survivor. The only boy, Jerry Harvey, and another girl, Jacqueline Sue, died within 12 hours after birth. The quads, born to 25-year-old Mrs. Ruth Hurd, weighed a total of less than eight pounds.

Help for Housewives

London, Aug. 4 (AP)—A leading British medical magazine suggested today that the time has come when a housewife should be able to hand her husband a medical certificate and take a few weeks sick leave, just as he does at his factory or office. "Why not introduce a system of sickness benefits for housewives as housewives?" the medical press asked. "Doubtless such an innovation in the national insurance scheme would require an increase in contributions, but this is no insurperable objection."

Says Kids Too Shallow

Rochester, Aug. 4 (AP)—Dr. Jan Waterink, a faculty member of The Netherlands Free University of Amsterdam, says American kids are "to shallow and are too often concerned with television, comic books and eating." Waterink spoke before the 34th annual convention of the National Union of Christian Schools yesterday. "The deeper things are not in the lives of American children," he declared. "Eventually they become incapable of thinking." Watrink said it was up to parents to instill their children with the real values of life.

PAYING CLERGYMAN'S EXPENSES

A bride writes: "We have asked a clergyman friend of ours to officiate at our forthcoming wedding and he has accepted. He is not from this city and will have to travel a distance of 200 miles for the wedding. I would like to know if it would be proper to send him a check to cover the cost of his train fare?"

It would be much nicer to buy the tickets (which you do through a travel agency). It might embarrass him to send the money but to send the tickets would be a great convenience as well as a saving of money.

Most Becoming Hat

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been invited to the wedding of a friend of mine which is taking place at an evening hour. However, it will be a simple wedding and none of the guests are wearing evening clothes. I am going to wear an afternoon dress and with it I had planned to wear a very pretty picture hat. I have been told, however, that a large hat is not correctly worn in the evening, and that I should wear a small hat instead. Will you please tell me if this is true?

Answer: Ordinarily a big hat is not worn in the evening, but I see no objection to your wearing the hat that looks especially well with your dress.

Marking Wedding Silver

Dear Mrs. Post: Will you kindly tell me what is correct in regard to marking silver for a wedding present? As a young woman (many years ago) whenever I sent a wedding present of silver to a bride-to-be, I was told that the correct marking was with the bride's maiden initials. I have heard that this is no longer correct and that silver should be marked with her future initials. I would appreciate hearing from you on this matter.

Answer: It is much more practical to mark it with the initials which will be hers when she is using the silver. In other words, her married ones. It was an old rule which in time has proven very inconvenient, and is seldom observed today.

In a Military Manner

Fredericksburg, Va. (AP)—Marine Sgt. Clyde Clifton Bourne, Jr., had but an hour of liberty left when he faced a red traffic light here. He made use of the waiting period to kiss the girl beside him. A string of cars, including that of Patrolman John E. Patterson, lined up while, Patterson said, the light changed three times. Bourne started on the fourth change of the light. The marine didn't deny kissing the girl but said the light didn't change three times. "We'll assume," said Justice A. W. Embry, Jr., "that you were unconscious at that time and unable to count the changes." Bourne was fined $50 for reckless driving.

Celebration for Hoover

West Branch, Iowa, Aug. 4 (AP)—A birthday celebration, the like of which Iowa has never before seen and probably can never duplicate, will be his native state's newest tribute to Herbert Hoover. Thousands will gather Tuesday, August 10, in this community of 750 population, where the former President of the United States was born to a village blacksmith and his Quaker schoolteacher wife, 80 years ago. Iowa is going all out to honor Hoover that day. He comes to West Branch by special invitation, extended in formal resolution last year, by the Iowa Legislature.

CIO Official Is Heard in Blast Against McCarthy

Los Angeles, Aug. 4 (AP) — A CIO official last night characterized Sen. McCarthy (R.-Wis.) as "the Whirling Dervish of Wisconsin" who, he said, has exploited the newspaperman's obligation to report the remarks and antics of public officials.

Irwin DeShetler, Los Angeles, regional CIO director for five western states, reviewed the senator's political career in addressing the banquet session of the CIO American Newspaper Guild's 21st Annual Convention.

DeShetler said, "I am sure that if Heywood Broun were here today he would have many brilliant and fighting things to say about McCarthy."

The late Broun was the Guild's first president.

Senator and Press

Commenting on the senator in relation to the press, DeShetler said:

"It is unfortunately true that the big black headlines that tend to create the myth of McCarthy in the public mind have been considerably more widespread and more frequent than the thoughtful editorial or article.

"McCarthy, who knows very well that a good newspaperman must report the remarks and antics of a public official, no matter how violent or irresponsible they may be, has coldly exploited this fact to produce headlines."

It is also true, Deshetler said, that too much of the press "has been over-eager to let him get away with it, or has vigorously cooperated with him in doing so."

McCarthy, said Deshetler, "has powerful press and radio support from such as the Hearst and McCormick chains and the Westbrook Peglers, Fulton Lewis Jrs., Walter Winchells, George Sokolskys and others."

Evaluation Cited

On the other hand, the CIO official said, "the press has done a considerable amount of critical, responsible evaluating of McCarthy. While this has not been as widespread as we would like it, it is an encouraging thing to note that there seems to be an increasing tendency among our papers to size up McCarthy for what he is."

The Guild delegates earlier met in panel and committee sessions to prepare resolutions and policies for submission to the convention Thursday and Friday.

Stephen Ripley, Guild wire service administrator, asked the convention to investigate alleged violations of human rights, including the nonemployment of Negroes by the nation's top three wire services. The convention named a committee to look into Ripley's assertions.

There are thousands of Negroes, said Ripley, with all the training and experience neces-

Early-Morning Crash Injures Two Persons

Two persons were injured in a collision between a car and a tractor-trailer at 1:45 a. m. today on Route 44-55 about 500 feet east of the Mid-Hudson Bridge traffic circle, state police of the Highland Station reported.

Raymond E. LaFrance, 24, of Wappingers Falls, driver of the car, and June Ondella, 19, of 2 South Perry street, Poughkeepsie, a passenger in the LaFrance car, were reported in "good" condition today at Vassar Hospital, Poughkeepsie.

LaFrance, who suffered lacerations of the face, was reported to be "resting comfortably." Miss Ondella suffered a fracture of the left leg.

Troopers E. Johnson and J. Krom, who investigated, reported that LaFrance was proceeding west on Route 44-55 and the tractor-trailer, operated by John Collins, 42, of Philadelphia, Pa., was crossing the highway from south to north attempting to go west. The car struck the right side of the trailer near the center, troopers said.

Dies Waiting for Doctor

Red Bluff, Calif., Aug. 4 (AP)—William Stone, 54, bled to death yesterday while sitting on a curb in front of his doctor's office waiting for the physician to return. Three other physicians were in a nearby clinic but Stone told passersby he preferred to wait for his own doctor, James L. Faulkner, to treat an ax wound on the forearm. When Dr. Faulkner arrived he rushed Stone to a hospital. Faulkner said Stone died there two hours later of loss of blood, exhaustion and a possible heart condition. Stone had slashed his arm almost to the bone while repairing a fence 30 miles northeast of here. His wife drove him here for treatment.

Isabella Is Injured

Arthur H. Isabella, 48, of 45 Washington avenue, Saugerties, who operates Artie's Bar and Grill, 44 North Front street, this city, suffered minor injuries at 3:45 a. m. today when he apparently fell asleep at the wheel of his car, state police of the Kingston station reported. The police report indicated that Isabella's car struck a rock cut on Route 9W, about three miles south of Saugerties.

One Vote Margin Favors Women in Church Alliance

Princeton, N. J., Aug. 4 (AP)—The World Presbyterian Alliance voted in favor of ordaining women into the ministry yesterday by the slimmest of margins—66 to 65.

Delegates to the Alliance's 17th general council registered their approval of a report that declared in part that sex should be no bar to the ministry "so that the best talent wherever found can be fully utilized."

The final vote followed a long discussion on a report presented by Dr. Paul Calvin Payne of Philadelphia, general secretary of the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A.

It contained a paragraph not to be modified by motion action, calling for a restudy of the status of women in the church, and declared:

"Many of us feel strongly that all fields of Christian service should be open to all members without distinction as to sex, so that the best talent wherever found can be fully utilized."

One woman delegate, Mrs. E. D. Jarvis of Glasgow, Scotland, chairman of women's work of the Church of Scotland, advocated approval of the motion. "Women have been studied enough," she said.

Says Women Estranged

Another, Lady C. M. van Asch Van Wijak of Zeist, Netherlands, said in a luncheon address that women are becoming estranged from the institutional church "because they have the feeling of being only second-class members. . . ."

Lady Van Wijak said the matter ought to be of great concern to the church since by barring women from its leadership it is losing "their God-given capacities of initiative, energy and imagination. . . ."

Dr. Ralph Waldo Lloyd, American secretary of the Alliance, held that the statement on the role of women was one of "attitude and belief" and the Alliance could not obligate member churches by approving the report.

Earlier, the 400 delegates, said to represent four million members throughout the world, were urged to make extensive use of radio and television for churchgoers and those who stay at home as well.

The Rev. Dr. Clayton T. Griswold of Summit, N. J., executive director of radio and television of the Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., said modern-day means of communication were a necessity in carrying the word of God.

Think It Through

Remember the old nursery rhyme, "Old Grimes, his wife made butter and cheese, Old Grimes did drink the whey"?

It's no longer in the nursery. A once highly respected figure, Uncle Sam, is now Old Grimes.

Mr. Hutton

"Uncle" never intended to spend his life drinking whey whilst his old lady slaved away in the buttery. "Uncle" never wanted to get the whey habit.

But it has snuck up on him, unbewares like. It come about this way. "Uncle" got himself bamboozled into buying up 600,000,000 pounds of dried milk so his nephews and nieces couldn't buy milk cheap.

There being no end at all to the dried milk business, "Uncle" said to himself that he'd have to unload some of it before more came piling in on him. Everyone just loves to trade with Uncle Sam — he's such an easy mark!

Well, soon as the news got round about unloading dried milk to make cow feed, the whey-ninny-ho people hollered that this was unfair competition with their supplying the stuff to make the feed; and that if Uncle Sam unloaded the milk, he'd have to load up on their whey.

All I can say is — it's a heck of a whey to run a country!

Alarmed at Policies

Missoula, Mont., Aug. 4 (AP)—Adlai E. Stevenson said last night he is "alarmed at all of the Republican policies on natural resources." "We seem to be approaching another crisis in this field," he said. The 1952 Democratic presidential nominee made his comments after a trip in Lolo National Forest with Forest Service officials. Republican power policies alarm him, Stevenson said, because of what he called the GOP's "partnership" approach. He said he was concerned over Republican changes in the Soil Conservation Service and accused the GOP of taking the important jobs in that agency out of civil service and injecting "the spoils system and political patronage."

Rhee Goes to Chicago

Record Flood in China

Tokyo, Aug. 4 (AP)—The flooding Yangtze river hit an all-time peak of 95½ feet today at Wuhan, the great tri-city area in central China, Peiping radio announced. The broadcast, heard here, said the crest is 2½ feet higher than any recorded previously, and the river is still rising. Wuhan includes the important cities of Hankow, Hanyang and Wuchang on the Yangtze at the mouth of the Han river. Lippincott's Gazetteer calls the tricity complex "the economic heart of central China."

As Pegler Sees It

method. Dru's executive and his cabinet were to "frame bills and introduce and defend them in the House," a novelty which Roosevelt vigorously embraced with Social Security, the Wagner Act, NRA and the Lend-Lease law.

The states were practically dissolved and taxes were arranged by state officials with federal supervision. The unions were granted dividend rights in the profits of industry beyond a statutory 5 per cent, payable to the union treasuries.

Philip Dru's income tax took only ½ of 1 per cent of the first $1,000 and 1 per cent of the first $2,000; plus 2 per cent between $2,000 and $5,000; plus 3 per cent between $5,000 and $10,000 plus 6 per cent between $10,000 and $20,000. Incomes above $10,000,000 were taxable at 70 per cent above that line.

There in substance is the "plan" now acknowledged as the work of Woodrow Wilson's Brain, after 22 years of denial by the Roosevelt-Truman cult. The very title has been a baleful taboo and, no author being named, discussion has been wary down to now.

Schine Resumes Duty

Augusta, Ga., Aug. 4 (AP)—One of the army's widely known privates—G. David Schine—has resumed duty with a military police unit at Camp Gordon after a three-day pass spent with his family in New York. Schine, a wealthy hotel heir but more readily identified with Republican Sen. McCarthy's wrangle with the army, had been assigned to the MP's and Service Detachment of the 3441 Area Service Unit. The army reported yesterday he will be with the Camp Gordon provost marshal's office.

The modern flamethrower was first used as a weapon of war by the Germans in the winter of 1914-15 during World War 1.

little homes that lined the street were charred and torn by the fire and force of the explosion.

An automobile parked in the street was flattened but a little boy playing near the crash was uninjured. His two sisters, further away, were burned, but not severely.

The disaster brought the neighborhood close to hysteria, one resident reported. However, firemen trained for emergencies, took charge and soon had people wetting down their smouldering homes with garden hose to help firemen keep them from bursting into flames.

Wantagh Deputy Fire Chief James Scolley said it looked to him at first as though the entire area would go up in a blaze.

The air force sent investigators to Wantagh, a community on the south shore of Long Island about 50 miles from the heart of New York, to study the wreckage in efforts to find out why the plane crashed.

There were conflicting reports from eyewitnesses who watched and heard the plane as it streaked from the sky. Some heard only the big explosion as it hit the ground. Others said there were two earlier explosions.

Mrs. Edith Renganeschi, of Massapequa, saw it come in low over Sunrise Highway, three blocks from where it crashed. "It seemed to disintegrate in the air," she reported.

William Neubert watched the crash from his backyard, one block away. "It was a beautiful, big silver thing," he said. "As soon as it hit, I felt the heat and ran to get my wife and children out of the house."

Most severely burned was Frank Snyder, 44, who was in his yard with his 7-year-old daughter Geraldine and tried to shield her from the searing heat. He was taken to Meadowbrook Hospital with third degree burns and lacerations. Geraldine suffered minor burns.

The two sisters burned were Patricia Loester, 6, and Peggy Loester, 5. Their three-year-old brother Tommy was playing even closer to the crash but was not hurt.

Also injured was John Fister, a plumber's helper, whose leg was broken.

Whiskey Is Destroyed

Pekin, Ill., Aug. 4 (AP)—Fire apparently ignited by lightning during a violent thunderstorm destroyed 42,000 barrels of whiskey and several buildings of the American Distilling Co.'s 61-acre plant near Pekin early today. Officer Manager Al Weston estimated the loss at between 3½ and 4 million dollars. Towering flames visible for 12 to 15 miles raged more than four hours before fire departments of eight communities brought them under control.

Good Working Top

Heavy inlaid linoleum makes a good working top for wooden cabinets. It should be large enough to fit the top without piecing and should be glued or cemented to the top, then shellacked and waxed.

Appeal Planned For F. O. Hammer

Wilmington, Del. Aug. 4 (AP)—Attorneys for Frederick O. Hammer plan an appeal from his conviction yesterday on a charge that he carried a concealed weapon the day his shipping heiress wife was shot at Delaware Park race track.

Hammer, 46, was sentenced to five years at the workhouse and a thousand-dollar fine.

Two charges of assault with intent to commit murder are to be scheduled for a jury trial later. The charges stem from the shooting of his estranged wife Mrs. Andrea Luckenbach Hammer, near the track paddock June 28.

Hospitalized until July 17, she was the chief witness against him. She testified she had not seen him since last October and that he spoke to her in a threatening tone when they met at the track. During the conversation, she testified, Hammer "fumbled in his pants pocket, pulled out a revolver and fired."

Hammer did not testify.

The assault charges pertain also to the wounding of Woodrow Long, a horse trainer who was standing nearby at the time of the shooting. He was grazed by a bullet.

A's Transfer to Kansas City Appears Likely by 1955 Season

New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—A firm offer backed with an estimated 4 million dollars in ready cash was pending today to end the Mack dynasty in Philadelphia and move the money-troubled Athletics to booming Kansas City.

Arnold Johnson, a Chicago business executive whose varied interests run from being landlord of Yankee Stadium through banking, book publishing, construction and real estate, is trying to swing the deal.

Last night he confirmed reports which have been circulating for almost a month that he is dickering with the Mack family and the board of directors of the Athletics.

"I have made a very fair and full offer for the club," Johnson said while in New York on a business trip. "I have reason to believe they are considering it."

In Philadelphia, a source close to the Athletics said Johnson's bid has been received. He called it the only firm offer that has been forthcoming.

Roy Mack, who shares ownership in the A's with his father, Connie, and his brother Earle, has denied vigorously all previous reports that the club might move. But after Johnson's announcement Roy backed off slightly and declared:

"The only thing I will say right now is that I am doing my utmost to keep the ball club in Philadelphia."

Roy has been trying to find backers in an effort to buy out his father and brother. The board of directors has given him until Aug. 11 to raise the cash.

There have been no noticeable signs of success in his campaign.

Elder Mack Pessimistic

The elder Mack is in Chicago, where he was quoted in an interview with Hy Hurwitz of the Boston Daily Globe as saying:

"We're washed up in Philadelphia. Mr. (Will) Harridge (president of the American League) has approved of it (the sale) and also approved of Mr. Johnson and his partners. I want to sell, Earle does, but I can't understand why Roy doesn't. The club is through in Philadelphia. There is no more interest in the team there."

Although no one was speaking for publication, there ware indications the American League owners would urge a shift of the franchise out of Philadelphia if the deal looked practical.

President Harridge called reports of the deal "premature." The first concrete details of the Johnson offer were disclosed yesterday by sports editor John P. Carmichael of the Chicago Daily News. Harridge pointed out that franchises can be shifted only between Oct. 1 and Dec. 1.

One of the last major obstacles in Kansas City was cleared up when voters yesterday approved a 2-million-dollar bond issue to buy Blues Stadium, now owned by Johnson. The money would be used for the purshase and improvements which would increase the capacity from 17,000 to 33,000 by the start of next season. Johnson plans to lease the park back from the city.

"Kansas City will be a red hot major league town," Johnson said. "It outdrew Milwaukee in the American Association the year before the Braves moved to Milwaukee. It's booming and I'll do everything in my power to bring them big league baseball."

Hershey Golfers Win At Atlantic City

Atlantic City, N. J., Aug. 4 (AP)—A pair of Hershey, Pa., golfers captured the Atlantic City Centennial pro-amateur championship yesterday with a best-ball 36-hole score of 130—14 under par.

Johnny Weitzel, pro at the Hershey Country Club, teamed with amateur clubmate Lynn Creason to defeat 39 other pro-am teams from the Philadelphia, Metropolitan, New Jersey and Middle Atlantic districts. All had qualified in sectional tournaments.

Weitzel had rounds of 68 and 67 on his own ball, scoring nine birdies and an eagle. His partner, a 37-year-old theatre manager, had six birdies while scoring 71 and 69 over the Atlantic City Country Club course at nearby Northfield.

Thor Slostad had to close his bowling alley for a few days in Mt. Vernon, Wash. He had loaned all his 62 bowling balls to his fellow townsmen competing in a Seattle tournament.

Joneses vs. Merchants

The City Baseball League goes into the final two weeks of the regular campaign this evening when Jones Dairy meets Olive Merchants at 6:15 p. m. at the Athletic Field.

Rain wiped out yesterday's scheduled game between Nadler Motors and Dobler Beer. New York Panthers face Nadler Motors Thursday. After next Tuesday's game between Doblers and Merchants, only makeup contests remain before the playoffs.

Rain washed out yesterday's District 4 Little League tournament game between Saugerties and the Kingston National Little Leaguers.

But a keen pitching duel is expected today at 6 p. m. when the Kingston Americans send Hobart Armstrong or Charlie Boice against Highland's Dom DiCapua.

Has No-Hitter

DiCapua pitched a no-hitter last year and was impressive in his debut this year. Boice and Armstrong both pitched excellent ball during the regular season.

The Kingston Nationals-Saugerties contest will be played Thursday. The winners of the two games meet Friday.

The finals against the Poughkeepsie champions for the District 4 crown is scheduled Saturday at 2 p. m.

Batting — Yogi Berra, New York Yankees, stroked a two-run single in the third inning to give the Yankees a 2-1 victory over the Cleveland Indians.

Yogi Berra's Smoking Bat Poses Serious Challenge to Indians

By JOE REICHLER
(Associated Press Sports Writer)

Cleveland's best chance of slowing up the New York Yankees' pennant drive is to cool off Yogi Berra's blazing bat.

The sturdy Yankee backstop is really red hot right now. In his last seven games, Berra has hit safely 14 times in 27 times at bat for a torrid .519 average. The Yankees have won six of those seven games. Two weeks ago, Berra was hitting .287. Today he is at .306—and climbing.

It was Berra who proved the difference in New York's 2-1 victory over Cleveland last night that chewed a full game off the Indians' American League lead, slicing their margin over the Yankees to 1½ games.

With Yankees on second and third in the third inning, Berra cracked a single off Art Houtteman, scoring both runners. That was the ball game. The Indians, who scored on Larry Doby's first inning home run, his 23rd of the season, couldn't budge Whitey Ford after that as the young lefthander permitted only one hit in the last five inings.

National Unchanged

The National League race remained unchanged as the top three clubs—New York, Brooklyn and Milwaukee—added to their victory column. The league-leading Giants maintained their five-game advantage over Brooklyn with an easy 7-1 triumph over Chicago's crippled Cubs. The Dodgers had to go all out, edging the St. Louis Cardinals 2-1 as Carl Erskine bested Vic Raschi in a pitching duel. The third place Braves, 10 lengths off the pace, defeated Philadelphia's Phillies 3-1.

The Chicago White Sox served notice they were still in the American League race by drubbing the Boston Red Sox 6-2, advancing to within six games of the Indians. In other night games, Cincinnati overpowered Pittsburgh 7-2 and Philadelphia's Athletics downed the Baltimore Orioles 6-2. Detroit shut out Washington 2-0 in the only day game.

Ford was superb, turning back the Indians on four hits for his 11th victory and his fifth in a row. He fanned six and did not permit a runner to pass second after the fourth when the Indians loaded the bases with two out to bring the tremendous throng of 60,643 to its feet. Ford, however, struck out Jim Hegan and the Tribe threatened no more.

Erskine Bests Raschi

Except for the third inning when Raschi singled and scored on a triple by Wally Moon, Erskine was complete master of the Cardinals, who bowed to the Brooklyn righthander for the 10th straight time at Ebbets Field. Erskine, fanning nine, also drove in the winning run with a single in the fifth.

The Giants swatted Bob Rush for 12 hits, including Hank Thompson's 19th home run with two on base, to extend their latest winning streak to five. Ruben Gomez spaced five hits and struck out seven for his 10th victory. The Cubs played without the injured Hank Sauer, Randy Jackson and Gene Baker.

Back-to-back doubles by Eddie Mathews and Hank Aaron, followed by Joe Adcock's single, produced two fifth inning runs that enabled the Braves to break a 1-1 tie with Philadelphia for Warren Spahn's 11th victory.

Cavaretta Stars

Veteran first baseman Phil Cavarretta drove in two runs with a double and single, and scored another as White Sox rookie southpaw Jack Harshman gained his fight victory. In his last start against Boston Harshman fanned 16 batters. He struck out seven last night.

Three hits apiece by Chuck Harmon and Jimmy Greengrass and shutout pitching by Lefty Joe Nuxhall until the ninth featured Cincinnati's victory over Pittsburgh.

Ray Boone drove in both Detroit runs with his 15th home run and infield out as southpaw Billy Hoeft blanked the Senators with five hits. It was Hoeft's sixth victory and third shutout.

The Athletics made only five hits off three Baltimore pitchers but took advantage of five errors to pick up six unearned runs, all they got, as they moved to within two percentage points of the seventh place Orioles.

THEY BEAT NEWBURGH . . . ALWAYS

Giant Rookies Have Fast Club Set for Saturday

The City Baseball League All Stars face a powerful team in the New York Giant Rookies Saturday night at Dietz Stadium.

The Giant Rookies were formed in 1950 to give talented youngsters an opportunity to play baseball, with the idea of somebody making it a full-time job. They play from 40 to 50 games a year.

Team manager, Ed Krank, is a Giant scout. His idea in forming the club, is to take baseball minded young men, who would rather work full time at something else, than suffer the rigors of low pay and poor travel conditions in the low minors.

Big Year in 1951

Thus, a Giant Rookie team is made up of youngsters who are just a step away from Class A or Double-A ball. In 1951, for example, the Giant Rookies put 21 youngsters on the Giant farm clubs. Chief among these was husky Al Maureski, a catcher, who is now in the Southern Association as a Giant $20,000 bonus baby.

It was Maureski, who walloped two homers and a triple off Whitey Ford, then a private at Fort Dix, who was toiling for the Newburgh Jewels (now the Dodger Jewels).

Throughout the years, Manager Ed Krank's teams have had tremendous success against Newburgh. Since they first met in 1950, the clubs have faced each other nine times. The Rookies have lost only once.

Newburgh, which boasts what it believes to be its best team this year, lost to the Rookies, 4-0 and then held the Rookies to a 3-3 tie in the second, called by darkness.

The local City League stars will have a job on their hands Saturday night.

Watching Eddie Ford Go By Getting Tough for Tribe

Cleveland, Aug. 4 (AP)—"I've been getting a lot better last month, but tonight I really had wonderful stuff," said southpaw Whitey Ford, whose four-hit pitching brought the New York Yankees a 2-1 victory last night over the league leading Cleveland Indians.

The 25-year-old Hurler struck out six and walked four Cleveland batters in the game, the opener of a three-game series, which cut the Indians' lead to a game and a half.

Ford, who posted his 11th victory against six defeats, said that besides using his fast ball, I "came in with curves on the inside to left-handers, like Doby."

It was Doby, blasting his 23rd home run of the season, who tallied in the first inning for Cleveland's only score.

That didn't happen on a bad pitch, the Yankee left-hander declared, adding:

"I wouldn't be afraid to throw it to him again. I came in with that one right in on his fists and he didn't really hit it good. You ask him and he'll tell you that. The thing is, he's so strong he can hit a ball badly and still hit it over the fence."

Besides Doby, only Vic Wertz, Wally Westlake and Jim Hegan managed to get as much as a single off the chunky left-hander.

But for Westlake's harmless single, Ford held the Tribe hitless in the last five frames.

The blond, 5 foot 10½-inch pitcher, said that in recent weeks, "I've put on quite a bit of weight, gotten a little stronger—and it makes me quite a bit faster." He added:

"Right now I weigh between 190-185 pounds—I gained almost 15 pounds when I gave up cigarettes, and now I hold myself down to one cigar a day."

Tom Burke Leads Qualifying Pros In All-American

Chicago, Aug. 4 (AP)—A well-known Texas golfing name popped into the headlines again yesterday as previously unheralded Tom Burke Jr., made a bid for professional fame.

Burke, formerly of Houston and now a Chicago pro, smacked a six-under-par 66 in the opening qualifying round for professionals in the All-American golf tournament.

It topped a field of 150 who were shooting for the 60 places open in the All-American, which starts Thursday.

Another 150 pros take over Tam O'Shanters fairways today for their 18-hole qualifying rounds.

Burke, a cousin of Jack Burke Jr. a pro circuit regular, bagged eight birdies in stroking a 32-34.

A stroke behind were the former Canadian Open champ, George Fazio of Clementon, N. J. and Smiley Quick of Los-Angeles. Both shot 34-33—67.

It appeared that at least a par 72 would be needed to qualify for the tourney proper. That figure was tied or beaten by 35 swingers yesterday.

Woodstock Women Cop Class B and C Events

Mrs. DeLisio Hits 96, Mrs. K. Elwyn Has 95

Woodstock Country Club women won low gross honors in Class B and C of the annual invitational tournament yesterday.

Mrs. Anthony DeLisio, wife of the club president, shot 96 for Class B honors, while Mrs. Kathleen Elwyn copped Class C gross with 95.

The heavy rains reduced the field from an anticipated 75 players to 21, including a group from the Powelton Club of Newburgh.

Mrs. DeLisio put together nines of 45-51 for the 96 and netted 70 with a 26 handicap. Mrs. Alva Boyd and Mrs. George Rifenbary of Twaalfskill shared low net honors at 71.

No Class A Play

Mrs. Elwyn fired nines of 51 and 44 and netted 64 (low for the day) in Class C. The net prize for a 69 went to Mrs. Edith Heckeroth, who grossed 112 and had 43 handicap.

The Class A competition was cancelled when only one player —Mrs. Jessie Burnett—reported for play.

The results:

CASTING TIP FOR FAN-WING FLIES

THE DELICATE AND APPEALING FAN-WING DRY FLY OFTEN TAKES FISH WHEN OTHER FLIES FAIL, ESPECIALLY AMIDST A HATCH OF LARGE DRAKE FLIES, BUT IT'S DIFFICULT TO CAST. ITS BULK CAUSES EXCESSIVE DRAG SO THAT STANDARD LEADERS WON'T STRAIGHTEN FOR A SOFT, SUBTLE DELIVERY AND THE FLY MAY ALIGHT UPSIDE-DOWN UNLESS A TORPEDO-TAPERED LEADER IS USED.

EXCEPT TIPPET, ALL SECTIONS OF ABOVE TORPEDO-TAPERED LEADER ARE 12" LONG. THIS LEADER CASTS OTHER BUSHY FLIES NICELY, ALSO.

Hercules shut out VFW, 7-0, behind the 3-hit pitching of Jack Houghtaling for their second straight Recreation League victory.

The KHS flinger allowed only three singles but the official report did not list his strikeouts.

The Powdermen tagged Joe Amato and Bob Roos for nine hits, including three singles by Bob Shelightner and a triple by Skip Brodhead.

Four VFW miscues, two walks and Shelightner's single accounted for four Hercules markers in the third.

President Says

ears from now with respect to ed China and the UN.

Atomic Pool—The President aid he does not propose to be efeated on his plan for an in- ernational atomic energy pool or peaceful purposes merely be- ause Soviet Russia has refused o go along with the idea. He aid he still is trying to find a ay to put the plan into effect ithout Russia and intends to eep on trying.

Main Fall Issue

Politics—So far as he is con- erned, the President said, the ain issue of the fall congress- nal campaign will be simply is: Is the record of the Re- ublican administration a good ne or is it not?

European Flood Relief—Eisen- ower announced that both Aus- ria and Germany—he did not ay whether he was talking of he western section or the Red- ominated eastern section of ermany — have accepted the U. S. offer of surplus food for the relief of flood victims in the area of the Danube river and its tributaries.

He added that Communist Yugoslavia's anti-Soviet govern- ment has not been able to make a reply as yet. Nor have there been replies from other coun- tries eligible for such aid, he said.

Tennessee Valley Authority—The President said he chose Brig. Gen. Herbert D. Vogel to be the new chairman of the TVA Board of Directors because Vogel is the kind of a man the administration wants in that job.

Eisenhower said emphatically he wanted to repeat that he is pledged not to destroy TVA.

Housing, Construction

Housing and other construction—Eisenhower said he was unfamiliar with the details of pending legislation which would authorize emergency construction of school buildings. He said he would look into it and say later what his position will be on the matter.

As for housing generally, the President said—as he has many times before—that there should be no racial discrimination in connection with any housing program where federal funds are used.

Federal insurance—The President said he was delighted over congressional approval of an administration bill to provide group life insurance for government employes. He called the measure highly desirable.

Shotgun Rule Is

ment just outside the capital.

Protests Are Staged

The order to disband the irregulars brought thousands of protesting demonstrators before the National Palace yesterday, many in mourning for those killed in Monday's battle. Castillo Armas in a balcony appearance pleaded for calm. He said he was keeping his personal force under arms in the two provincial centers because "new lamentable clashes could occur" if their disbanding was ordered.

The troubled relations between Castillo Armas and regular army leaders started with the overthrow of Communist-backed President Jacobo Arbenz Guzman at the end of June.

Arbenz fled into the Mexican Embassy after Castillo Armas, an exile since 1949, invaded from Honduras with his "Liberation Army." Army leaders took over the capital, with Col. Elfego Monzon finally heading up the government after a three-day series of shifts.

In the ensuing peace negotiations in neighboring El Salvador, Castillo Armas agreed on July 1 to serve under Monzon in a new five-man junta, an agreement which produced widespread discontent among the rebel leader's supporters. A week later the junta elevated Castillo Armas to its presidency, which angered some army factions.

Army discontent reached the boiling point when Castillo Armas did not disband his Revolutionary Army and several weeks ago encamped 700 of his troops around the Roosevelt Hospital, on the outskirts of the capital.

Vandalism Reported

Police were notified yesterday afternoon that several windows were broken at the Terry brickyard property, North street, and last night Henry P. Eighmey, of the Kingston Model Railroad Club reported that a fire had been started near the building. The blaze was quenched by members of the club as they left their meeting.

CAB Praises Crew

safety. Records showed planes landed at Idlewild before and after Caboche missed his approach.

12 Are Hurt

Twelve persons in all among the 29 passengers and 8 crew members were listed as injured, some of them only superficially. The three children on the plane —aged 4 weeks, 2 years and 9 years—escaped injury.

As the plane came down, it skidded half a mile, then rose in the air again. It sheared off the tops of a row of trees, smashed again to the ground and slammed through the yard of Valentine Sebastian, missing by 50 feet the porch where one of his small twin sons was playing.

Hurtling on, the plane crashed through a small outbuilding, demolishing an automobile, and came to a halt with flames shooting from a wing.

The dazed passengers scrambled out to the field before the flames reached them. There was no panic. The plane burned two hours and was destroyed.

The injured were brought to Backus Memorial Hospital here, six miles from Preston.

Physician Hurt Badly

Most seriously hurt was Dr. Horacio Polanco, 50, of Guatemala. He later was transferred to Hartford Hospital at Hartford, Conn., where his condition was reported critical. He suffered a broken neck and multiple fractures and was paralyzed. He underwent an emergency operation during the night.

His wife, Gretel, 38, who suffered a broken shoulder, also was transferred to the Hartford Hospital, where her condition was reported satisfactory today.

Those hospitalized here, all reported in fair condition, included:

Charles Humbert, 55, of Northport, who suffered burns of the face both hands, both ankles and left knee.

Tuesday's Rain Is

the corn "should fill out." So should other crops, such a muskmelons, which were "drying up."

The moisture also helped the Henry Van Kleeck farm on the Onteora Trail, especially the later crops. The early ones suffered considerably, however.

Good For Later Crops

Salvatore Modica, who has a farm on the Onteora Trail near Kingston, said it was going to help the crops. "What's lost has been lost" but the rain will help the later crops, especially corn, melons, peppers, egg plant—and "cabbage will do well." It has been an unusually severe drouth and drying winds have hurt.

Milton Walker of Walker's Farm also on the Onteora Trail flats, said the rain was "fine did a lot of good...went a couple of inches into the ground." It was much better than a quick shower which might fall in a limited locality and lack penetration. It fell all over the state, he said.

First Brook Went Dry

"The early crops won't recuperate," Walker pointed out. "It has been dry since the middle of May." The brook on his father's place near the Sunset Drive-in "went dry"—and "I never saw it dry before."

Vincent Maggiore, also on the flats across Esopus creek, said the rain was "something good."

"It helped everybody." He explained that a lot of stuff had been pretty well baked, that some crops, such as tomatoes, were already pretty ripe and wouldn't be helped much.

Tomatoes grow slow, he said. The rain falls, the "water swells them up and the skin can't stretch fast enough. The tomatoes crack."

The corn now in ear is mature and the rain won't help it —but later corn will be benefited, he told The Freeman.

Meters Take Reported

The city treasurer's office today reported a total of $4,100 collected from the city's parking meters in July. This was $100 more than in June and $450 more than in July, 1953.

Answer to Previous Puzzle

$1,250,000 . . .

Trans World and United Airlines had voted more than 9 to 1 to authorize strike action. However, union spokesmen said no walkout would occur as long as the Mediation Board works for a settlement.

The union is seeking a 5 per cent pay boost in all top rates paid by the various airlines with all pay rates made uniform.

Progress In Seattle

In another airline dispute, negotiators in Seattle reported progress in efforts to avert a strike of the AFL Agents Assn. employed by West Coast Airlines. The company serves 32 cities in Washington, Oregon and Idaho.

The union is seeking a wage increase of 6 to 7 per cent and recognition of the eight hour day.

Elsewhere, on the labor scene there were bright and dark developments.

A strike by 2,500 CIO Steelworkers at two aluminum plants of the Reynolds Metals Co. was ended today with the drafting of a new contract giving workers a 5-cent hourly wage increase and improved fringe benefits.

The average hourly wage rate was not announced.

The settlement at Reynolds plants in Phoenix, Ariz., and Troutdale, Ore., averted a threatened walkout of another 7,500 workers at six other Reynolds plants.

Two Others Unsettled

Two other big strikes dragged on without sign of an early break.

Four weeks of negotiations have brought about no visible progress in the wage dispute between the CIO United Rubber Workers and the struck Goodyear Tire and Rubber Co., in Akron, Ohio. Although Goodyear has been struck, other members of the industry's "Big Four" are involved in wage discussion with the union. They are B. F. Goodrich Co., the U. S. Rubber Co. and Firestone Tire and Rubber Co.

The union wants pay increases of 7½ cents over the present $2.08 average hourly rate.

In Portland, Ore., CIO workers and the Pacific Northwest fir industry failed again yesterday to settle a seven weeks old strike over wages. The union wants the $1.87½ hourly wage rate boosted by 12½ cents.

Missing Boy, 4

kicking a football in a room in the house and broke a lamp. The lad darted out the door and "took to the woods for shelter," according to Mrs. Barley. There are a "lot of rocks and ledges where the kids have a play place" within the 40 acres of woods surrounding the Barley home.

Mrs. Barley thinks he may have slipped into the rocks and fallen asleep. She searched for him for about three hours, then decided, with nightfall approaching, she's better get help. She was particularly distressed because Esopus creek runs about a mile back of the house.

When Howard got back "he didn't say anything." Mrs. Barley gave him a hot bath.

"He's all right," she said. "He's going to be fine."

U. S. Demands

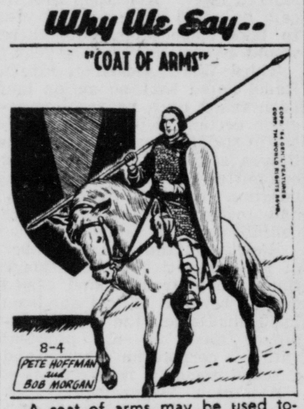

authorities cannot, under established international law, dispose of their responsibility to make compensation to the United States government by asserting, as they have done, that the matter is one between the Chinese Communist and British governments to be settled through diplomatic channels."

Praise for Starlings

Bath, Aug. 4 (AP)—At last someone has a kind word for the pesky starling. A farm bureau agent yesterday said the noisy bird has turned up as a foe of the army worm which has been causing extensive damage to crops in western New York. He said starlings have been seen feeding on the worms, a diet that may spell their doom.

Why We Say--

"COAT OF ARMS"

A coat of arms may be used today as a family emblem on anything from an automobile to stationery. But the original coats of arms were created as actual markings to be worn on the outer coats of knights so that they could be distinguished from one another in battle

Memories

Mattoon, Ill. (AP) — LeRoy Parker, a former postman who last blew his whistle in 1926, is 92 and has a sharp memory. Since the day young Roy held his mother's hand while she wept after his father's safe return from the Civil War, Parker has been a sportsman, big game hunter, traveler and at one time a driver of a horse-drawn streetcar in Chicago. He remembers the election of General U. S. Grant over Horace Greely in '72. He voted for Eisenhower in the fall of '52 and caught a string of fish off the Gulf of Biloxi, Miss., in the spring of '54.

City Sued for $50,000

New York, Aug. 4 (AP)—The city of New York was sued for $50,00 yesterday in the death of a woman who choked on a pickle while a patient in a city hospital. The suit was brought by Mrs. Lillian R. Rogers of 43-23 40th street, Long Island City, Queens, in behalf of the estate of her deceased sister, Miss Helen F. Regan. Miss Regan died Oct. 28, 1952, while a patient at the Goldwater Memorial Hospital for treatment of multiple sclerosis. She was 48 years old.

Grotewohl Says

the young West German republic and concentrated his work on them.

American and British intelligence officials took the view that the Communists, rather than the old Nazis, should be the main target of intelligence work inside West Germany, these officials said.

So It Was All Right

Sidney, Neb., Aug. 4 (AP)—Eight months ago August Jurgens, 49, Sidney, was laid off his job. Bad? Mr. Jurgens says certainly not, for now he owns a gas well which he never would have owned if he hadn't been laid off at the ordnance depot here. When he couldn't find work in town Jurgens decided to try farming at which he once worked and lost when he had to give up a farm in the 30s. Wanting only some land so he could "have a place to work," Jurgens swapped two houses for the land. It wasn't long before an oil company asked if it could drill on his land. The company brought in the gas well.

Spain Makes Demand

Madrid, Spain, Aug. 4 (AP)—The authoritative newspaper Arriba said today Spain will not join any coalition of nations that includes Britain as long as Gibraltar remains a British colony. Spain claims the fortress rock at the western entrance to the Mediterranean Sea. Arriba, organ of the Falange party, published an editorial calling for return of the rock to the "true owner" and said concord between Britain and Spain "is not possible while the terrible breach of Gibraltar is opened . . ." The Falange is the only legal party in Spain. Gibraltar was captured by the British Aug. 8, 1704.

This Time No Cat

Pasadena, Calif., Aug. 4 (AP)—Miss Olga Maltsberger, 50, always uses the traditional wolf's whistle when she calls her cat. But this time, she told police yesterday, she got a wolf. When he ventured into her yard she ordered him away, threatening to call the law. A neighbor did put in a prowler report, and the man fled before a squad car arrived. The officers didn't find out whether Miss Maltsberger ever got her cat in.

Must Stop Motors

Mayor Frederick H. Stang yesterday notified the police department to check on all trailer trucks which park near local diners and restaurants with their motors running. This practice constitutes a health menace, the mayor noted, and operators of trailer trucks are to be contacted in all parts of the city and told that the motors must not be left running.

Council Action

essary preliminary work to get it started.

Six Weeks Remain

"It is estimated that about 4,000 enjoyed this beach over the last week-end alone, and we still have six weeks to go, the letter said. Several aldermen commended the mayor for moving to provide the city with bathing facilities.

A letter from the water department explaining action on a resolution by Alderman James K. Ryan, 10th ward, dealing with control of air conditioning units, said it was considered July 8, and noted that the proposal has been under study for "considerable length of time."

Regulations are now in effect which place a surcharge rate on water used on air conditioning equipment in summer, the letter said, and plans are being made "to adopt a comprehensive set of rules and regulations" to be included in the department's regulations, those to deal with installation and operation of all air conditioning equipment.

Water Conservation

The primary purpose of such regulations, it said, would be to require the use of water conservation devices on air conditioning equipment.

A report from City Engineer Arthur F. Hallinan on the air conditioning proposal suggested that the city should decide if air conditioning was a luxury or was vital to community life.

If it is determined it is a vital need, he proposed, it should be regulated by requiring suitable and complete cooling and recirculating accessories which are now on the market.

To him, he said, it was a question of whether the city should be obliged to spend for the building of sewers or spend at the source of a condition that would provide new sewer problems.

Problem Is Complex

The subject, he said, was a complex one, and among factors were varying conditions of temperature and humidity. Because of these, he indicated, it would be impossible to set up one standard air conditioner.

Water consumption of commercial air conditioners is from 287 gallons per hour for three-ton capacity to 1,460 gallons per hour for 15-ton, or 4,000 to 20,000 gallons for a 14-hour day. He assumed that few of the larger type would be used here and the average would be about five tons which would use 6,720 gallons in a 14-hour day.

On this basis, he noted, it would only take 150 conditioners to use 1,000,000 gallons a day, or about one-eighth of the water supply of the city. Usually business areas with smaller and older sewers, use the most air conditioning, he said, and he indicated that without control measures, the supplementing or replacing of sewers would be required at great expense.

To Lease Equipment

On recommendation of the finance committee the aldermen voted to lease from the New York Telephone Co., a police radiotelephone service at $158 a month to replace the present radio system. The old system will be taken over by the telephone company for $1,008. The company will maintain the service.

This proposal was previously introduced in the council but was delayed when Democratic members refused approval. Alderman Ryan noted last night that while the replacement of the old system was "a bit more expensive," it would provide, with the backing of the telephone company, for a better police service.

It was also voted in behalf of the police department to transfer from an unused fund of $2,900 earmarked for a typist, $1,908.36 to be used toward the purchase of two new police patrol cars. It was explained that the typist job was not filled because the salary was considered inadequate and the work is being done by present personnel.

Asks New-Type Fence

Fourth Ward Alderman Joseph F. Wenzel proposed in a resolution that the wooden fence on the railroad bridge at Hasbrouck and Delaware avenues be removed and a wire type fence be placed there for better visibility. The condition, as it exists, he said is dangerous to pedestrians and general traffic. It was referred to the railroad and bus committee.

A resolution by Ryan asked investigation of the possibility of having refuse collections handled by a private contractor, was referred to Mayor Stang. It noted that neighboring communities with city-management form of government, have found the method economical. Another Ryan resolution proposed advertising of city projects for possible money-saving bids by contractors on construction work.

To Curb Buses

Ryan also asked action to curb buses from speeding over Henry street and directed that the Adirondack line be notified. The resolution charged that drivers charted from out of town in the summer were the offenders. It was referred to the traffic committee and police department.

A resolution by Ryan charged that zoning board permits for house trailers were being granted contrary to a trailer ordinance, and that the new regulations be binding upon the zoning board. It was referred to that board.

A petition signed by 85 persons asked for the repair of Henry street. It was submitted by Ryan and referred to the Board of Public Works.

Another petition submitted by Alderman Abram D. Relyea, 11th ward asked for sewer projects on South Washington, Klingsburg and Pettit avenues, and one asked for a sewer on Lounsbery Place. They were referred to the BPW.

The council adopted a resolution approving the salary of Alexander Yosman as manager of the Colonial Gardens housing project. Harry Gold, counsel for the Kingston Housing Authority informed that Yosman had been appointed with proper civil service status at a salary of $3,900 a year with three annual increments of $100 each.

Meters Approved

The council approved installing parking meters on Elmendorf street near the Hayes-Jarrett Motors building on recommendation of the traffic committee.

A resolution designating city polling places was adopted. The only change noted was in first district, 10th ward. The Julia Myers garage, 1 Center street, is the new polling place. The former place was the Vivian Schoonmaker property on Liberty street.

Alderman Relyea asked for an ordinance to regulate the use of spot lights in the city. He had been called many times concerning such complaints, he said, and he felt such lights should be regulated so as not to shine towards streets or other homes.

Alderman Samuel J. Perry, fifth ward, thanked Mayor Stang for his efforts in behalf of reconditioning the Kingston Point beach, and said he thought it "one of the best things that ever happened in the city for the people of the City of Kingston."

Alderman Hirschell Mayes, first ward, said he had talked to many persons, and found much favorable comment with "not one objecting." The mayor, he said, should be given credit.

Action 'Commendable'

Alderman Ryan said he felt the mayor's action was "commendable," and he suggested a small fee be charged which the people probably "would be only too happy to pay" for bathing facilities. It was probably too late this year, he thought, but perhaps a fee could be considered later. Alderman Storms said he could not say what was to take place later, but "there would be no charge this year."

Third Ward Alderman Edwin Radel noted that no action had been taken on a proposal to include certain civil service workers in social security. Alderman Relyea said the laws and rules committee took up with the corporation counsel and "things had to be ironed out," before definite action is taken.

Radel said that as a member of the committee he felt "some things come from behind closed doors," because he had not been included. He felt the whole committee meet on the proposal with the corporation counsel and a social security representative.

Alderman Mayes noted that "for the first time in five years" he was hearing council proceedings as the result of the amplifying system.

City Clerk Bernhardt S. Kramer thanked the aldermen for cooperating under the new council deadline regulation and getting their resolutions in by noon of the meeting date.

Other Resolutions

Other resolutions read and referred for action were:

Norton—that the high grass and weeds be cut on East Union street (the High Road) and a full-stop sign be placed on Murray street at Hasbrouck avenue.

Cullum—that the newly accepted section of Fairmont avenue be provided with a street light and a sign at Miller's Lane and Fairmont avenue read "dead end."

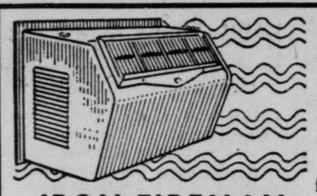

Relyea—that a ditch on Glen street be cleaned, and grass and weeds be cut along upper Linderman avenue, Becket street and Hillcrest avenue, and the brook along Pettit avenue be cleaned.

Perry—that a traffic light be placed at North street and Delaware avenue. It is needed now, he said, especially because of new traffic to and from the Kingston Point beach.

Alderman Cole, in asking for the traffic light at Abeel and Dunn streets, noted that trucks of thruway contractors and from the Callanan road company were steadily passing the intersection and it was being otherwise travelled. He asked that weeds be cut along sections of Hamilton, Purvis, South Wall and Abeel streets, Wilbur avenue and DeWitt street, that the stairway at Abeel and DuFlon streets be painted and that there be no parking for 200 feet on each side of the entrance to the Kingston Power Boat Association property.
